Roosevelt Ousts Army General Who Rapped WPA Spending

ORDERS CHIEF TO GIVE UP COMMAND

Hagood Called Relief Cash 'Stage Money' In House Hearing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood was summarily relieved from his command of the Eighth Corps area at San Antonio, Tex., today and ordered by President Roosevelt's direction to his home to "await orders."

Hagood in recent testimony before a house appropriations subcommittee suggested that congress take advantage of what he termed "WPA stage money" and use it to improve housing at army posts.

No explanation made. The order relieving him of command at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., headquarters of the Eighth Corps area, was issued on Feb. 21, but not made public until today. In San Antonio Hagood said he had received no word of the order from Washington.

No explanation of his removal was forthcoming immediately in war department quarters.

The order, which appeared in the regular war department orders issued daily, was signed by Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staff, by order of the secretary of war.

Will Soon Dry Up
In his testimony on the war department appropriation bill, Hagood urged that $150,000,000 be used for army housing.

"At the present time," he said, "there is a vast flow of silver—I won't say gold—spreading out all over the country like mud."

"It will soon dry up without anything permanent to show for it. I shall not be accused of profanity when I say, for God's sake, put some of it into stone and steel."

Called It Stage Money
Hagood said he was "not familiar with the various pockets in which Uncle Sam keeps his money" but understood that "there is budget money, which is very hard to get; there is PWA money which is not so hard to get; and then there is a vast quantity of WPA money which is very easy to get for trifling projects but almost impossible to get for anything worth while."

The general said he called WPA funds "stage money" because "you can pass it around but you can not get anything out of it in the end."

Tells Troubles
"It is harder for me to get 5 cents to buy a lead pencil than to get a thousand dollars to teach hobbies to CCC boys," he testified. "Under WPA I can get $200 to build a gravel walk to the garden house but I can not get $10 to repair a 'busted steam pipe.'"

Hagood holds the American Distinguished Service medal, the French Legion of Honor and the Order of the Crown of Italy, all awarded him for services during the World War, in which for a while he commanded the seventh regiment of the first expeditionary brigade of the coast artillery corps.

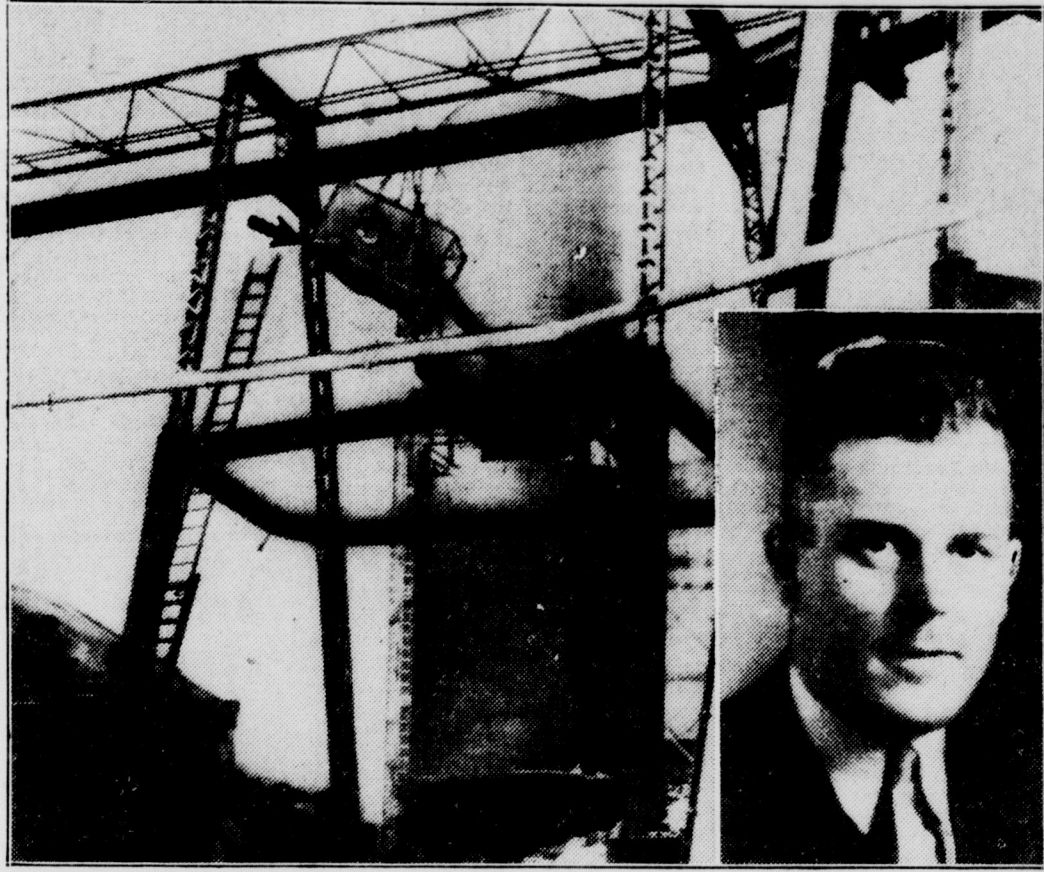

Byrd Near Breakdown
DALLAS, Tex.—Pearl Admiral Richard E. Byrd, polar explorer, was reported in danger of a breakdown today, but his spokesmen said he could continue his lecture tour.

Suspect Here Tangles Tales Again
Police were no nearer a solution today than ever in their probe of the actions of Christian J. Boeligen, alias Christian Alexander Witten, held here on charges of illegal entry into the United States.

Boeligen, a resident of Balboa, was arrested Friday by Immigration Inspector Franklin Davis, after it was reported to Sheriff Logan Jackson that he resembled a man believed sought in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping case.

Questioned by authorities, the man has given at least four conflicting stories of his whereabouts during the past few years, and of the location of his wife, whom he has said at various times was

Where Surgeon Performed Mid-Air Operation

This picture shows where Dr. N. Gillmor Long (inset) performed a spectacular mid-air operation at Lowell, Mass., to amputate the arm of John McCoy, crane operator, with a hacksaw. The physician had to climb 50 feet in the air and perch himself at the top of the ladder to get at McCoy, who had been pinned to the steel girder indicated by the arrow when the crane's cab broke loose. McCoy, who remained conscious through the ordeal, is reported near death. (Associated Press Photos)

PRISON BOARD JOBS FILLED

Two Named By Merriam; Group Will Select Holohan Successor

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24. (AP)—Governor Merriam filled two vacancies on the state board of prison directors today, clearing the way for selection of a warden to succeed James Holohan, who resigned last week as warden of San Quentin penitentiary.

The governor appointed former Senator James M. Allen of Yuba a lawyer, to the vacancy created by the death of R. A. Leonard of Oroville. The term expires in 1940.

He filled the second vacancy, created by the expiration of the term of John Howard, jr., of San Diego, by appointing Edward L. Abbott, Santa Barbara contractor, to a new 10-year term.

The governor said that "the successor to Holohan will be up to the board; I presume it will meet shortly and make a decision; if it asks me about any candidate I will be frank to reply."

Although the governor declined to comment, it was known that Warden Court Smith of Folsom prison probably stood first in line for the San Quentin job. Reports had indicated that Smith may be succeeded at Folsom by Capt. Clarence Larkin, head of the guards at Folsom.

Comstock Bolts Democratic Party
DETROIT, Feb. 24. (AP)—Former Gov. William A. Comstock, leader of the Democratic party in Michigan for nearly three decades, virtually withdrew from the party today in a statement sharply criticizing the patronage policies of national party leaders.

Declaring he would "take no active part whatever in the political activity of the Democratic party in Michigan in 1936," the former governor predicted that the party would receive a "deserved rebuke from the voters next November."

San Bernardino, Feb. 24. (AP)—The annual citrus institute will attract citrus growers from all parts of Southern California to the National Orange Show tomorrow.

Dead, missing, or had gone back to Germany.
Boeligen told Sheriff Jackson that he married a Martha Schroeder, "maid in the home of Mrs. Taylor, of the Taylor Trunk company," in Waukegan, Ill., in 1930.

Wires from Waukegan police today were to the effect that neither a Christian Boeligen nor a Martha Schroeder ever had lived in Waukegan, nor had there ever been a Taylor Trunk company in Waukegan. The wire further stated, however, that a Christian J. Boelen had married a Magdalena Franke there on April 29, 1930.

Boeligen told Sheriff Jackson he may have signed his license "Boelen," but denied emphatically ever having known anyone named Magdalena Franke.

Authorities are attempting to check on all the man's various stories of his past several years' activities, without much success so far. Statements of his activities since 1930 conflict in virtually every detail, Sheriff Jackson said today.

Boeligen, or Witten, apparently was cleared of suspicion in connection with the Lindbergh case when New York police said they had already questioned him concerning a possible implication and were convinced he had no part in it.

He has been a resident of Balboa for the past two years.

Amputation Victim Said Near Death

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 24. (AP)—John McCoy, 47, crane operator, who underwent an amputation of his right arm last Wednesday while pinned to a girder 50 feet above the ground, underwent a blood transfusion early today at St. Joseph's hospital.

Hospital authorities said he had an uncomfortable night and that his condition remained critical.

BAHR CLEARED IN MURDER
Irvine Ranch Official Was at Death Scene In Long Beach

Pending a coroner's inquest over the body of Mrs. Ethel Palm, 40-year-old Long Beach divorcee found strangled to death early Sunday in her apartment, Ernest Bahr, assistant manager of the Irvine ranch, who spent several hours Saturday with the woman, today was apparently cleared of suspicion by Long Beach police.

Mr. Bahr was questioned by police after it had been learned that he spent from 11 a. m. to about 3:30 p. m. Saturday with Mrs. Palm.

He told officers he drank several highballs with Mrs. Palm in her apartment, after purchasing medicine for a headache she had complained of, and left her apartment about 3:30. This statement was corroborated today by Irvine ranch employees, who said he played cards on the ranch the balance of the afternoon.

Mrs. Palm's body was found in her living room early yesterday as her radio played at top volume, when the apartment house manager forced her door.

An unsuccessful attempt to interview Mrs. Palm Saturday evening concerning a financial statement made by her former husband, Dr. A. E. Palm, Los Angeles dentist, he told police.

The woman had been strangled, Long Beach detectives said, by a noose of silken lingerie tied about her neck.

First reports, which were unconfirmed, received before telephone communication at the mine property was disrupted, said nine men were killed and an undetermined number injured. The slides struck the mill and the boarding house on the King lease, part of the Campbell property.

Approximately 30 men rushed from Ouray on horseback toward the scene of the tragedy.

Citrus Institute At Orange Show
SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 24. (AP)—The annual citrus institute will attract citrus growers from all parts of Southern California to the National Orange Show tomorrow.

Death Suspect's Alibi Discredited
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24. (AP)—Police gathered circumstantial evidence which assertedly discredited today the "alibi story" of Fred Stettler, suspect in the "clock slayings" of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barbour.

Stettler, 25-year-old chauffeur, repudiated his first story to police that he killed the elderly boarding house operators in a robbery, and declared he sold to a "used car dealer" the clock-work arson machine which set the Barbours' bedroom on fire.

SINCLAIR TO HEAD EPIC PLATFORM

Anti-McAdoo Battle Is Launched After Split With F. D. R. Slate

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24. (AP)—An anti-McAdoo but pro-Roosevelt fight in California was hurled today as Upton Sinclair re-entered the political arena.

Sinclair late yesterday consented to be the nominal presidential choice of a national convention delegate slate pledged to production-for-use for the unemployed, keynote of his 1934 campaign for governor of California.

The slate was chosen by his erstwhile campaign organization, the End Poverty League, Inc., in state convention. At the May 5 primary, this slate will oppose one announced from Washington last Friday as President Roosevelt's choice. It was regarded as predominantly favorable to U. S. Senator William G. McAdoo, opponent of production-for-use, and 10 "liberals" named on it bolted the next day.

Second Ballot For F. D. R.
Sinclair emphasized he would "run" on the Epic slate only if it would vote, if elected, for President Roosevelt on the second ballot at the national convention.

Sinclair, in a speech repeatedly cheered by the Epic convention, declared President Roosevelt had been misinformed about the California situation by his advisers. The President, he said, told him in 1934 he was coming out for production-for-use, but was dissuaded by politicians who regarded this as politically inadvisable.

"President Roosevelt knows what this May 5 poll means," Sinclair said, "and my guess is he won't mind having it tried."

"No voter will be under the delusion he is voting for Sinclair for President, but will know he is voting for or against production-for-use," Sinclair said.

"Our delegation will not do any harm to President Roosevelt. But it may do harm to politicians who tell him wrong things about California."

Laguna Man Named
Chairman Culbert L. Olson of the state Democratic central committee, who fought Senator McAdoo on the Roosevelt slate selection, did not attend the one-day convention because of illness. He led the bolt from the Roosevelt slate Saturday.

The Epic slate includes William R. Tattersfield, Laguna Beach.

1 Killed, 50 Hurt In Train Crash
CINCINNATI, Feb. 24. (AP)—One man was killed and at least 50 persons were injured, some seriously, in a rear-end train collision which led today to the second two-fold investigation of its kind here within a month.

The collision, between a Big Four passenger train from Chicago and a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train from St. Louis, was similar in some details to the wreck Jan. 31 between the Louisville & Nashville's "Southland" and the Chesapeake & Ohio "Sportsman."

Taken by Death

Stroke Early Today Is Fatal to Maryland's Former Governor

BALTIMORE, Feb. 24. (AP)—Former Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, vigorous advocate of state's rights and a pioneer in the movement that led to prohibition repeal, died suddenly at his apartment here early today. He was in his 60th year.

A stroke apparently caused the death of the noted Marylander, a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination at the 1932 convention in Chicago. The end came about 1:45 a. m., less than two hours after he was stricken.

Funeral services are to be conducted at 3 p. m. Wednesday at Christ Protestant Episcopal church. The body will lie in state at the church Tuesday.

New Deal Critic
Death ended speculation over the possibility of his taking a leading role in opposition to renomination of President Roosevelt at this year's Democratic convention in Philadelphia. His outspoken criticism that Roosevelt New Deal policies tended to circumvent the constitution and engulf state's rights stamped him as an outstanding figure among intra-party foes of the administration.

He was looking forward to making a fight "within the party," in his own words, to force the national administration to "go back (Please Turn to Page 6, Col. 4)

SAYS RECORD DISCLOSES UNTRUTH

One of State's Chief Witnesses Attacked By N. J. Governor

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 24. (AP)—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman today accused Millard Whited, Soudland mountain lumberjack, and one of the state's chief witnesses against Bruno Richard Hauptmann, of "lying," and a short time later reiterated he has no intention at present of granting a second reprieve.

The governor, who questioned Whited at length Saturday, said the "printed and written record shows that he was lying."

Whited was one of the two witnesses who placed Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate at Hopewell about the time of the kidnapping, March 1, 1932.

Story Attacked
The Soudland logger was the only witness New Jersey called at Hauptmann's extradition hearing in New York to place the Bronx carpenter near the scene of the crime. Whited swore he saw Hauptmann prowling around the Lindbergh grounds on two occasions late in February, 1932. He repeated this testimony at the Flemington trial.

The defense, both at the extradition hearing and at the Flemington trial, attacked Whited's testimony.

($500,000,000 Farm Bill Meeting Set

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The house agreed quickly today to a conference with the senate on the new $500,000,000 farm bill.

Speaker Byrnes named these members of the agriculture committee as conferees: Chairman Jones, Democrat, Texas; Representative Fulmer, Democrat, South Carolina; Doxey, Democrat, Mississippi; Hope, Republican, Kansas; and Kinzer, Republican, Pennsylvania.

Eager to get the soil conservation-subsidy bill working before the spring planting season gets fully under way, farm administration officials hastened their plans for putting the bill into actual operation as soon as possible after its enactment.

Dust Blots Out Sun in Colorado
PUEBLO, Colo., Feb. 24. (AP)—The "saffron scourge" churned today high in the Southwest skies, threatening a dust storm worse than the one which terrified thousands last spring.

Citizens of the Southwest plains country, who had been buffeted for weeks by gritty winds a year ago and said there could be none worse, had evidence today the drought still hangs on.

A 47-mile-an-hour wind yesterday stirred up gigantic clouds of silt that changed from saffron to pink to orange to green and finally obscured the sun. Mid-day resembled moonless midnight, so black that street lights could not be seen 50 feet away.

Egg Prices Take 8½-cent Tumble
CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (AP)—Egg prices tumbled 8½ cents a dozen today, the sharpest break in the market veteran traders said they recalled.

Warmer weather, stimulating the flow of eggs from country to market, prompted the decline. Spot eggs were selling around 22½ to 23½ cents a dozen compared with 30 to 32 on Friday.

Journal Driving Contest Praised
Calling all cars—drive safely! Three more people won prizes today in The Journals contest to promote careful driving. It was about 8 a. m. at Fourth and Broadway. The scoring maneuver today was the left hand turn. Here are the cars, observed by the contest editor, which did the job properly:

8X 791—8X 8185—7N 3625.
Drivers of these automobiles won five gallons of gasoline by making left hand turns properly after giving correct signals. If they will bring their cars to The Journal office before 6 p. m. tomorrow and identify themselves, each will receive orders for five gallons of gasoline.

The safe driving campaign has won commendation from public officials whose duty it is to enforce traffic laws and aid in curbing highway accidents.

Police Chief Floyd Howard: "Any type of constructive education along that line is appreciated by us. It's bound to have a good effect."

Captain Henry Meehan, California Highway Patrol: "Anything like that, letting the motorists know they are being observed, will make them more careful to obey the law."

Sheriff Logan Jackson: "I believe The Journal's contest is a fine way to remind people of their duty to observe traffic laws. One of the greatest causes of accidents is the disregard of other people's rights, particularly at intersections. If everyone would observe the Golden Rule we wouldn't have so many accidents. Drunken driving is another problem on which some of the people should be educated. The public is entitled to use the highways with safety. I believe we should absolutely revoke the license of every drunken driver."

The contest is being staged in an attempt to promote safe driving and to keep the public's attention aroused on the subject. Each day a different maneuver is the basis of the contest.

Tomorrow the contest editor will watch for three cars whose drivers make proper arm signals when they stop. The spot at which the cars will be watched remains a secret. That means it's up to you to drive carefully wherever you are—if you want to have a chance to win tomorrow's prize, and if you want to avoid accidents.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA FLOODS LEAVE 7 DEAD, SCORES HOMELESS

AGRICULTURAL LOSS NEARS $1,000,000

Rich Farm Acreage Is Inundated; Spring Crops Ruined

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24. (AP) Week-end storms left seven dead, uncounted thousands of fertile farm land areas under water, hundreds marooned by mountain highway drifts and scores homeless in Northern California today.

The weather bureau forecast continued unsettled weather, with more rain and lower temperatures. No rain was forecast for Southern California.

Losses Are $1,000,000. Unofficial estimates placed agricultural losses near the $1,000,000 mark in the worst flood since 1928.

Four persons died by drowning, one from exposure and two in an automobile crash on a flooded highway.

River Runs Wild. The Sacramento river and tributaries, swollen far beyond normal levels from more than two weeks' almost incessant rain, spread destruction and desolation.

Over a 100-mile area, ranging from one-half to seven miles in width, the Sacramento's flood waters covered rich farm lands and orchards, marooned livestock and forced residents to evacuate.

Spring Planting Ruined. The richest asparagus acreage in the world lay buried under a foot or more of water. Hundreds of other farmers saw their spring planting ruined.

Sacramento city thwarted inundation by opening all 48 flood gates in the river weir to divert the flow into Yolo by-pass. The diversion flooded 10,000 acres on Liberty, Prospect and Little Holland islands.

In Portland, Ore., six men were killed during a week-end storm that paralyzed traffic on the Columbia river highway.

THAW BRINGS FLOOD THREAT IN MID-WEST. CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (AP)—A sudden wave of above-normal weather melted snow in the Middle West over the week-end. A low pressure area traveling eastward was said by weather observers to threaten heavy rains, giving new flood alarm.

States eyeing the thaw apprehensively included Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

ARRAIGN SUSPECT. Lewis Stein, Los Angeles, arrested this morning by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey on a warrant charging petty theft, was arraigned today in the Santa Ana justice court. Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison placed bail at $500 and set Feb. 26 as the time for the trial. According to the complaint, Stein allegedly purchased some scrap iron from a local firm and later stopped payment on the check.

Heir for Barbara

Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, above, who today became the mother of a 7½-pound son. The child, who becomes heir to a fortune estimated at $20,000,000 on his mother's side, was born in London. The countess was married to Count Count Haugwitz-Reventlow May 14, 1935, following her divorce from Prince Alexis Mdivani. Mdivani was killed a few months later in an auto accident in Spain.

SON BORN TO COUNTESS

LONDON, Feb. 24. (AP)—An heir to one of the world's great fortunes was born today to Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, granddaughter of F. W. Woolworth, the 5-and-10-cent store founder. The mother's fortune is estimated at $20,000,000.

The boy was born in the great regency period house overlooking Hyde park which his father, Count Count Haugwitz-Reventlow of Denmark, took over several months ago.

It was reported that a "special agent" was on guard in the big residence to see that "no unauthorized person enters the house and to guard against possible kidnappers."

Three physicians attended the countess, and the secretary of one of them said both mother and child were in good condition.

The countess was married to Count Haugwitz-Reventlow May 14, 1935, following her divorce from Prince Alexis Mdivani. Mdivani was killed a few months later in an auto accident in Spain.

The British press recently printed reports that the count and countess would make their permanent home in England, fearing that their child might be kidnapped if taken to the United States.

The count, however, denied this report flatly through the Associated Press.

$10,000 FOR STOMACH. OAKLAND, (AP)—The difference in value between a right side up stomach and one that's upside down is $10,000. A jury so decided in the case of Joseph I. Edwards, who suffered the unusual injury in an auto accident.

$79,865 GIVEN COUNTY WPA PROJECTS

Allocation of funds for "Free Works Progress administration projects in Orange county, work on which will be started Wednesday, was made today, County Manager Dan Mulholland said. Total of the sums set aside for the three projects is $79,865.

Largest of these calls for improvement and other work in the Orange city park, at a total cost of $43,326, to employ 44 men. The federal government will donate $30,963, the city of Orange will give $12,326.

The sum of $34,161 was set aside for a furniture and toy-mending project in Santa Ana and other spots in the county, to employ 34 men and 16 women, at a cost of $34,161. Of this the federal government will give $21,387, while the county will spend $22,774.

The third project is for an educational project for work with reading and vocabulary difficulties in the Brea schools, at a cost of $2378. Employing one man and three women, the project will cost the federal government $1938, the school $480.

Presidential approval was granted a fourth project, for the continuation of work in the Fullerton city park, at a cost of $23,926. The city of Fullerton will give $6105 toward the project, and the federal government will allocate $17,821.

MORE ABOUT HAUPTMANN

Prosecution officials, the governor said, seem to be making "a studied effort to suppress" important information in the Hauptmann case.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., of Hunterdon county, replied at once to this criticism by accusing the governor himself of withholding all the facts. Whitte's testimony, he said, shows "there has been nothing suppressed."

"Why Not Be Fair?" he said, "has taken parts of the story to show he (Whitte) lied. Why doesn't he be fair about it and show the complete record, as well as the full statement Whitte gave Saturday instead of making public a few excerpts?"

"I did not question this man because I thought he was not telling the truth, but because the printed and written record shows that he was lying," Hoffman said.

"On April 26, 1932, he gave to the state police a signed statement in which he said that he had never seen any cars or suspicious persons in the woods near the Lindbergh home. His next signed statement is dated Oct. 6, 1934, when after having been repeatedly shown photographs of Hauptmann by Corporal Wolf of the state police, and having been promised payment and a part of the reward, he went to the Bronx county jail and identified Hauptmann as a man he had seen twice in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home prior to March 1, 1932."

The governor said he had both signed statements in his possession.

72-Year-Old Man Run Down By Car

Struck in the back by a car driven by L. A. Hogue, Brea, as he was walking across Main street between Fifth and Sixth, E. J. Miller, 72, was injured shortly after 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He was taken by ambulance to the St. Joseph's hospital.

Mr. Hogue, in making his report of the accident to police, said the elderly man evidently had just come from the Arcade building and stepped out from between two cars into the line of traffic.

FIVE INJURED IN DOLPH ESTATE FIGHT BEGUN

Two traffic accidents on Orange county highways this week-end resulted in injury to five persons, according to reports on file at the California Highway Patrol offices.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Maroon, South Gate, were injured at 10 a. m. Saturday when the car driven by Mrs. Maroon collided with a car driven by James R. Milligan, San Diego. The accident occurred at Manchester boulevard and Grand avenue, Buena Park.

Mrs. George Hawkins, Orange, M. R. Whitten, Orange, and Harry Coburn, Cypress, were injured at 3:30 a. m. yesterday in a collision at Stanton and Huntington Beach boulevards near Westminster. The two cars were driven by Mr. Coburn and Mr. Whitten.

Litigation and still more litigation in the battle over the $500,000 estate of the late Blanche L. Dolph of Dana Point was promised today as round one in the struggle to remove Florence E. Dolph, 89, special administratrix, started before Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

Principals in the drama are Miss Dolph, sister of the deceased; Miss Lucille McGaughey, companion of the late Miss Dolph, and O. Howard Lucy. The latter two have filed a will for probate, which Miss Dolph is contesting.

They, in turn, are seeking her removal as special administratrix on the ground of her age. Mr. Lucy is co-executor of the will, with Miss McGaughey, to whom the will gives the residue of the estate. Miss Dolph is contesting a picture and a rug by the will.

Today Nathan Newby, attorney for Miss McGaughey, raised the question whether Miss Dolph made improper representations to Judge Ames at the time she was granted special letters of administration. Rex Hardy, Miss Dolph's counsel, said this question was not at issue but probably would be raised in other actions to be filed, seeking recovery of property which Miss Dolph contends was alienated from her sister without consideration.

When Mr. Newby asked the witness what property she referred to as "alienated," she spoke of the Dolph tract and other property at Laguna Beach.

Mr. Hardy contended that he, and not Miss Dolph, made the representations to Judge Ames at the time special letters were granted, and that he would be glad to testify to the conversation.

In trying to bring out evidence of Miss Dolph's alleged lack of ability to administer the estate Mr. Newby asked her if it was true that A. L. Rhoades, her special agent, would be the actual administrator. She said this was not true.

Miss Dolph's contest of the will is to be heard later. She contends it was executed under undue influence of Miss McGaughey and Mr. Lucy. A demurrer to her grounds of opposition to the will was scheduled for the hearing which started today.

ROCK PILE VOTE DUE TONIGHT

The city council tonight is scheduled to "smash another rock" in its program of establishing a rock pile for drunken drivers.

A resolution probably will be acted upon, giving authority to City Engineer J. L. McBride to construct a stockade around the proposed rock pile on First street west of Artesia street, where the city owns seven and one-half acres.

The authority, however, will be contingent upon approval of the project tomorrow by the board of supervisors. The city's plan will be presented to the board tomorrow. The county's cooperation has been pledged, but legal angles connected with the fact that the city's prisoners are housed in the county jail, must be ironed out.

S. A. GARDENS SALE POSTPONED AGAIN

The foreclosure sale of approximately 900 acres of Santa Ana Gardens property, scheduled for today at the courthouse, was postponed to March 9 at 10 a. m. Creditors of the concern have secured a restraining order from the federal court at Los Angeles, temporarily holding up the sale.

The foreclosure action was started by owners of bonds of the organization which have become delinquent.

MRS. M. E. HEAD PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Maria E. Head, 84, resident of Santa Ana for 30 years and of Orange county 59 years, succumbed to a lengthy illness yesterday at her home, 520 East Sixth street.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow from Smith and Tutill's chapel, with the Rev. W. S. Buchanan of First Christian church officiating, and burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Head, who was born in Obion county, Tennessee, July 11, 1851, saw as a girl much of the horror of the Civil war. She married Dr. Henry W. Head in 1869, and six years later moved to California, locating on a farm between Santa Ana and Garden Grove, which was their home until they moved to Santa Ana in 1905. She was a member of the First Christian church. Dr. Head, who died Dec. 5, 1919, was prominent in the formation of Orange county and was a member of the state legislature in 1883-4.

The seven children by whom she is survived were at her bedside when she passed away. They are: Horace C. Head, Mrs. Elizabeth Mott and Miss Percy Head of Santa Ana; Mrs. Flora M. Johnson and Mrs. Mary Humphrey, South Pasadena; Mrs. Maggabelle Cox, Pasadena, and Clair Head, Garden Grove. There are also 14 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Gun Seller

VALUED WINDOWS SMASHED. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24. (AP)—Motive for a vandal's attack on the Calvary mausoleum puzzled authorities today. Two art glass windows, valued at $2800, were smashed, apparently by a fist.

UNIT ADDED AT VANDERMAST'S

Vandermast Clothiers, Inc., today announced the addition of a new line of lower-priced merchandise for boys and young men, and the installation of a new department for its handling.

The new addition is 20 by 40 feet, installed in the rear of the store, downstairs, where an entire brick wall has been removed to permit the building of the addition to the store.

This new addition, store officials said, will make three complete sections downstairs, including one for juveniles and boys from 2 years to 12 years of age, and one for "prep" age boys, from 14 to 18.

The entire new department of the store has been attractively furnished and outfitted, and will sell the same grade of merchandise for which the Vandermast concern has long been known.

Walter Vandermast, president, said today.

If too dry, popcorn should be moistened slightly and stored in a closed container for one or two days.

PIONEERS WILL LEAVE HERE

Residents of Santa Ana for nearly 50 years, Dr. J. P. Boyd and his sister, Miss Rosa Boyd, will leave the city Saturday for Redlands, where they are planning to establish a new home.

Ill health of Dr. Boyd has necessitated the move. Retired for several years, the doctor has since spent much of his time at Redlands. Climatic conditions at Redlands, it is felt, will be more favorable for him.

Dr. Boyd and his sister came to Santa Ana in 1888, from Virginia. They purchased their home at 801 North Main street, which they are now selling, in the early 90's, and the doctor became one of the city's prominent medical men. He was a charter member of the Orange County Medical Society, member of the Elks lodge, and affiliated with other fraternal groups.

Miss Boyd has been active in women's clubs of the city and known for many years as a gracious hostess at social functions at their home.

PLAN FOUR PLAYS AT G. G. SCHOOL

GARDEN GROVE—The dramatics department of the Garden Grove High school is sponsoring four one-act plays, on the first annual Argonaut Playnight, March 6, at the high school auditorium. All students of the department appear in one of the plays, directed by D. S. Jordan.

The plays to be presented are "The Turn of the Road," in which parts will be taken by Helen Harper, Walter Ziegler, Jack Devine, Betty Epps, Ernie Rogers and Lloyd Whipp.

The comedy "The First Dress Suit" will be presented by Leslie Christensen, Ethel Chaffee, Margaret Watts and Jack Reynolds. Parts of the drama "The Valiant" will be taken by Fay Hudson, Clarence Nida, Franklin McDonald, Harold Darling, Frank Miwa and Lloyd Whipp.

"The Trysting Place" will be presented by Elma May Smiley, Helen Waer, Donita Jordan, Lawrence Trickey, Woody Hodgson, Richard Littlejohn and Franklin McDonald.

Funds From Discoveries

Revue Here Will Go To Help Ebbl Day Nursery

The Orange County Discoveries revue, scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the Ebbl club, has a three-fold purpose, Mrs. A. G. Flagg, of the committee in charge, said today.

First of these, according to Mrs. Flagg, is to raise funds for the Ebbl day nursery, second to encourage amateur talent in the county and provide an opportunity for performance; and third to present three evenings of unexcelled entertainment for the county.

The day nursery, Mrs. Flagg said, has 14 children in its care at present. The daily routine includes arrival at 7 o'clock, supervised play or pre-kindergarten work, a short rest at 10 a. m., noon meal, period, and an afternoon play program.

The children kept in the nursery are those of mothers who work during the day. Its aim is to give these children the care and attention necessary for their well-being.

The nursery, situated at 610 North Garfield street, is in need of paint, more beds, bedding, toys, books for children and playground equipment, Mrs. Flagg explained. It is hoped to secure many of these things from proceeds of the amateur show.

Tickets for the revue, for which 91 acts have been selected, may be secured at the revue office, 421 North Spurgeon street, or by calling either Mrs. Flagg or Mrs. Dexter Ball.

Winners of the show, to be selected by popular vote of the audience, will compete in the all-Southern California show to be held early in March in Los Angeles.

RITES TOMORROW FOR MRS. UTTER

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. tomorrow from Bethel Baptist church, in Anaheim, for Mrs. Stella Utter, 54, native Californian and resident of Anaheim for 26 years, who died yesterday at her home, 1001 West Center street, Anaheim.

She is survived by her husband, Dr. J. W. Utter; two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Thomson of La Habra and Marion Utter of Anaheim; a son, J. W. Utter, Jr., of Anaheim; and two grandchildren. She was a member of Chispa chapter 151, O. E. S., at Anaheim.

The Rev. C. C. Root of Redlands, former Anaheim Church of Christ pastor, will officiate at the funeral. Services will be in charge of the Hilgenfeld Mortuary. Private burial will follow at Loma Vista cemetery.

Vancouver county, B. C., has decided to register all bicycles in an effort to stop theft of the vehicles.

THEFT SUSPECT IS HELD HERE

Benjamin F. Chaplin, 35, of 229 Detroit avenue, Huntington Beach, charged with petty theft, was arrested Saturday in Huntington Beach by Santa Ana police, who reached on a tip that their man might be found in the beach city.

According to a report on file in the police department, Chaplin rented a typewriter from C. E. Stewart last May, later selling it to a former resident of Newport Beach. Chaplin, according to police records, was sentenced to San Quentin in 1923 for forgery. He is being held under $500 bail set by Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

GRAB a toothbrush, shut your eyes real tight and hang on to your hats—we're going traveling!

This time it isn't San Clemente or Brea—it's Jerusalem!

After traveling for 22 days, a letter arrived addressed to us from Johnny Tuffree, one of Placentia's orange growers, who's traveling around the world. John was hovering over Jerusalem, and so dropped us a line—in fact six pages of lines. Here's some of what he reports:

"Friend Brick," he says, "Finding time to write a letter on a schedule like I am is pretty hard to do. On top of that, strikes seem to have traveled over here, and I'm running into them along the way."

"One day at Naples, Italy, was well spent in a most interesting trip to the ruins of Pompei. The famous old volcano was busily smoking away. Naples is a beautiful city—a busy seaport in a most beautiful setting. Throughout the city a very quiet people and no evidence of war preparations with 2,700 troops was leaving for the front. They said tell the people at home to come on over, as all this trouble to the tourist is just newspaper talk. Naples in its dress of lights at night was beautiful to behold," he adds.

"Our next stop," John says, "was at Alexandria, Egypt, a very striking port and a busy one—the outlet of Egypt. The delta of the Nile seems to be a very rich country, with alfalfa, clover and vegetables grown, as well as many kinds of fruit. Not one inch of ground is lost, and crops are irrigated by the old Chinese bucket pump, propelled by oxen," he adds. "The acreage for miles looks like a checkerboard, as it is planted in blocks, so it will not ripen at once, as hand harvesting is the method used."

"In this country," John continues, "the women have a hard time—all work and no play. Homes and villages are made of mud bricks, one and two stories, with paper roofs and willows, straw and brush piled on top to keep the heat out."

"At the Valley of the Kings," he says, "I went into King Tut's tomb—hope I didn't pick up a 'humbug.' His golden casket is still there and the valley is patrolled and the tombs are kept under lock and key," John adds.

"In Cairo our auto was stalled for a few minutes by a student demonstration, on a march to the government buildings," he says. "They were orderly, but were cheering wildly and carrying one of the members on their shoulders. The young Egyptians are determined that the English shall go and turn their country back, as they believe the British only held a mandate during the war. Believe the British know they have some interesting times ahead."

"No tourist business here to speak of," he continues, "and the merchants are stocked up and lament the student trouble which is keeping the tourists away. American Express and Cooks river steamers are tied up for lack of tourists and the sheiks look sad for lack of tourist business. 'Allah, Allah, send my cry of easy money,' he adds."

John spent 10 days in and around Jerusalem, he tells us. The city has 110,000 people, an altitude of 2,300 feet and needs rain badly, he says. He tells of trips to Biblical spots—more strikes in Jerusalem and Damascus, and finally comes down to oranges.

"I don't care much for the oranges here," he says, frankly, "probably thinking of his own valencias. 'I believe that Italy has the best flavored orange. Palestine is exporting about 7,000,000 cases of oranges and grapefruit and for this crop they received about $15,000,000, our money. There are about 60,000 acres planted in Palestine and more being planted rapidly. They say that 10 years ago land was selling for $50 and acre—it's now 20 times that figure. Jews own 65 per cent of the land and Arabs 35 per cent," he adds.

"The United Kingdom is consuming 70 per cent of Palestine's orange and grapefruit crop," he explains. "The trees look vigorous and bear very heavily," he adds. "From here until I reach India I'll be on the move. I'm going good—never felt better. I have a guide, a driver and a car all to myself. Best regards to all my friends. John."

If you see a crew of men looking under desks and bushes for a missing county editor, you'll know I've started out to see that John gets home safely!

MAY 16-17 DATE SET FOR GIGANTIC HARBOR CELEBRATION

SOILAND IS IN CHARGE OF FETE

Elaborate Program Will Mark Completion of Dredging Project

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—A two-day celebration May 16 and 17 will be held as the formal opening of Newport Harbor following completion of the $2,000,000 improvement program, it was decided at a meeting here yesterday.

Commodore Albert Soiland, first commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, is general chairman and George A. Rogers, leader in the harbor development program, is vice chairman. At the meeting held at Dr. Soiland's bay front home A. B. Rousselle, co-worker with Mr. Rogers in putting over the harbor program, was named treasurer, and Harry Welch general secretary.

Hundreds of craft, including navy vessels, coast guard craft, yachts and other boats, will enter the harbor in a gigantic parade at noon, May 16, for the grand opening of the event, it was decided.

A great exhibition of fireworks, yacht races, banquets, and other festive occasions will mark the festive occasion.

More than 100 workers will participate in making plans for the occasion and 100 prominent California and other officials will be asked to act as honorary vice presidents for the event, according to the plan. This list will be approved at a meeting of the general committee heads to be held in Newport March 7.

Twelve sub-committees were named yesterday to make initial plans. Each committee will be increased to not less than nine members and on some of the committees there may be a larger membership.

The committees are as follows: Water parade, Commodore Soiland, and Comm. J. A. Beck; Invitations to foreign yachts, Comm. H. W. Rohl and Rear-Comm. Shirley Meserve of the Newport Harbor Yacht club; races, William A. Bartholomae, Jr., Douglas Mackinnon and J. M. Webster; entertainment of officials, John C. Mitchell and Willard Smith; Orange county supervisors, Mayor Herman Hilmer and George A. Rogers; entertainment of visiting crews, Lew H. Wallace, Councilman Irvin George Gordon and H. H. Williamson; entertainment of public, M. J. Johnson, Donald Kirby; finance, Supervisor W. C. Jerome, M. Rousselle and Walter S. Spicer; public relations, S. A. Meyer, Supervisor N. E. West and J. Palmer; concessions, Capt. William J. Brown and Councilman Charles A. Claret; anchorages and landing, Dr. Howard Seager, Capt. J. B. McNally; decorations, L. W. Briggs and J. P. Greeley; marine technique, City Engineer R. L. Patterson, Harbor Master Thomas E. Pouchey and Nat H. Neff, county engineer.

ROBB TALKS AT DOHENY PARK

DOHENY PARK.—R. E. Robb, district organizer of Townsend Old Age Pension club, was speaker at a meeting of the local group Friday night at the regular bi-weekly session.

Plans are being made by the Doheny Park club to purchase a radio for use of Serra grammar school and the pension club. W. B. Greenside, president, suggested that the group give a box social and other entertainments to raise the necessary money. Aaron Buchheim contributed $5 toward the fund.

BOLSA P-T. A. MEETING IS HELD

BOLSA.—Members of the P. T. A. of the Bolsa school held a quilting party at the home of Mrs. L. Bauer on First street recently.

Present were Mrs. Edith McMillan, Mrs. Charles Patterson, Mrs. Pauline Cantrell, Mrs. Ben Faber, Mrs. V. C. Shylling, Mrs. Cadwalader, Mrs. Gilham, Mrs. Lily Cosner, Mrs. Gladys Bratsch and Mrs. Mignon Waters.

Ten was served by Mrs. Bauer at the close of the afternoon. She was assisted by Mrs. McMillan. The quilt, when completed, will be sold for benefit of the P. T. A.

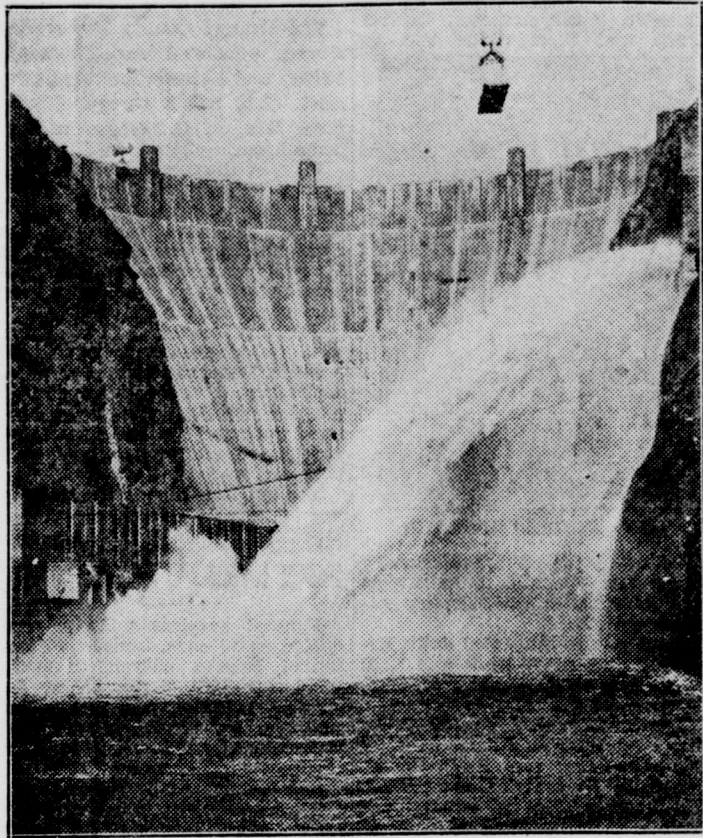

RAISE IN PAY IS SOUGHT FOR BEACH COUNCIL

SEAL BEACH.—City Councilmen in the future will receive an increase of $15 a month after the municipal election in April, providing the voters favor the plan. The question will be placed as an initiative measure on the ballot. Councilmen will then receive $25 instead of $10 per month.

trip at a meeting of the Garden Grove Brotherhood at the Baptist church tomorrow evening.

The public has been invited to the program, scheduled for 7:30 o'clock in the church auditorium. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the bungalow by ladies of the church.

First Spurts of Dam Outlet

Flowing at the rate of 7,480 gallons a second, a stream of Colorado river water is pouring here from an outlet in the Arizona side of the canyon wall just below the dam in the first tests of outlet valves. Six valves on each side will release water from the vast reservoir when power plants are not utilizing the flow to generate electricity. (Associated Press Photo)

'AMEN CORNER' RUINED Artist Cuprien Is Angered

LAGUNA BEACH.—Frank Cuprien, well known Laguna artist and "Kingfish" of the "Amen Corner" group, is complaining today because he can't get into the new booths that have been installed in the Sandwich Mill.

The restaurant, operated by Jim Hutchings, has for the past 10 days been undergoing a complete remodeling. Stationary booths of a modern and diminutive variety have replaced the chairs and tables that once formed such a cozy corner for the Ameners.

Friday afternoon "Kingfish" Cuprien dropped in to chat with Manager Hutchings and, incidentally tried out one of the new booths. Mr. Cuprien tugged and squeezed with might and main, but the new furnishings refused to budge an inch. Neither would his bones. Suddenly there was a bellow heard for blocks around. It was Mr. Cuprien, the artist and Kingfish, telling Jim Hutchings that he had no right to remodel his cherished "Amen Corner" without first consulting him.

Finally the fuss was over and the leader started off to join his flock at the White House cafe, where they have been meeting temporarily. But first Artist Cuprien paused to explain. "You see, I'm a big man," he puffed, pounding his barrel-like chest. "I don't fit in those little places. I'm more than a foot through. Jim should have consulted me! And who can talk back-to-back that way? Oh, Manager Hutchings and I, we've had to use the long table down at the far end."

Then off he went, streaming up the sidewalk, white whiskers flying, and his cane wagging behind him.

CLEMENCE CLUB FINISH LAGUNA IS LEASED SCOUT HUT

SAN CLEMENTE.—John L'Esperance, San Diego, will operate the San Clemente Beach club and plunge for the next five years, according to a contract signed by the city council at a meeting here Friday.

The city will receive two and one-half per cent of gross receipts up to $2000 per month and 5 per cent from returns of $5000 or more, it was agreed. The lessee was given exclusive right to rent beach equipment on city-owned beach land.

First reading of an ordinance was heard, amending building restrictions in the community. According to the amendment, an architectural committee to include two representatives of Bank of America and one from the council will act on approval of proposed buildings.

ORANGE HIGH DANCE HELD

ORANGE.—Anaheim High school students were guests at a dance given Saturday night by the Orange High student body in the school gymnasium.

Max Moore was in charge of arrangements for the Orange student body. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. C. Triplett, Delbert Lewis, J. W. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Williams, Harry Campbell and Mrs. William Faerber.

LOS AMIGOS CLUB HAS MEETING AT MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY.—Los Amigos card club members held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. C. A. Whitte recently, with Mrs. N. A. Nelson as co-hostess.

Present were Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. Stella Johnson, Miss Della Clough, Mrs. Wheeler Birdwell, Mrs. S. A. Miller, Miss Amy Leith, Mrs. J. L. Esser, Mrs. B. L. Kirkham, Mrs. William Schmidt, Mrs. Harry Kingsbury, Mrs. Gale Dunstan, Mrs. P. H. Marshall, Mrs. W. C. Wilson and Mrs. Marcus Dickjohn.

Dick Miller, Huntington Beach, whose hobby is fishing, will speak at the Boys' Hobby hour at the library on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Also, dads whose hobby is fishing, have been invited to attend.

'SONS OF SLAP ME DOWN' TO STAR IN H. B. SHOW

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—"Gentlemen, Be Seated," presented by the talented "Sons of Slap Me Down," will be presented in the auditorium of the high school here Thursday evening.

The presentation is an old-time minstrel show, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, with William Gallienne and Major John Thomas Africa in charge.

More than 60 players will take part in the three-act community affair. In addition an orchestra, directed by Margaret Colvin and a chorus will be heard. Harvey Bartlett and members of the local Sea Scout troop will be in charge of ushering. Mrs. Earl Conrad and J. S. Denny are handling ticket sales.

Featured in the first act are Harry Overmeyer, featured as "The Iowa Nightingale," Ted Tarbox as "Peck's Bad Boy of Harlem," W. D. "Boxie" Huston as a tired Negro hostler from Santa Anita; Vic Terry, Don Blossom and Kim Holbach. Dr. D. H. Hough and Harry M. "Cap" Shene are listed as end men.

Other features of the production are appearance of many local residents disguised as prominent picture stars and two race track scenes, which will include the "Huntington Beach Handicap" and the "Oil Men's Handicap." Mr. Shene is in charge of two dramatic productions featuring the second act, "Robbery in the Park" and "A Fight in the Lodge." Ticket sales are reported booming here, and Mr. Gallienne today advised early reservations for those planning to attend.

Fish and Their Habits, Painting Classes, Boats, Are 'Coastline' Topics

By McDONALD WHITE

Have a list here of possible items to write about. Not quite sure what they're all about, but as long as I took the trouble to write them down perhaps something should be done about them. The next on the list is—boats.

Boats. A. J. Allen, who has been lobster fishing in Laguna for 20 years, is building a rowboat in a garage nearby. It's just a spare time job with him, building boats, and he says he has built too many to remember. Anyway, dropping by there every day to see how it's coming along has had an insidious effect on me. I want to buy it, and Mr. Allen says he wouldn't mind selling it.

If he would flatly refuse to sell it, then everything would be all right. But it is a trim little craft, lightweight, and looks easy to handle. Here's the trouble. If I got the boat the next expense would be to buy a put-put to push it. And then gasoline, and oil, and so on. So I'm going to ask Mr. Allen to please keep the garage doors closed.

However, we got to talking about fishing around here. He said, "Fish are just like people, all the time traveling." That sounded pretty good, so I asked him to enlarge on the idea. "You take harradira, yellowtail and sea bass," he obliged, "they usually arrive along here, from San Clemente to Newport, about the middle of May and stay 'til June or sometimes July. Then in July come the albacore—when they come, they stay through August. Mackerel? Oh, they're here all the time, but they've been scarce this winter."

"We had a run of albacore last summer, but they're awful scarce nowadays. Takes a big boat to get albacore, you know. Fact is, an albacore boat is hard to get a hold of these days."

"Yes, I'd be willing to sell you this rowboat for—well"—he tightened up a screw—"about $50, I guess. She's worth every penny of that. 'Course I planned to use her myself this spring, but I've been kind of laid up this winter, and I don't know."

It would have been great to have picked out the color of the paint at that psychological moment—but naye, naye, Annabelle.

Nira. Remember Nira, the sea gull? He's Roosevelt's new buddy, adopted a few weeks ago by Lily Wildg, who repaired his broken wing. Nira and Roosevelt have become such good pals that, although the bandage has been off Nira's wing for several days, he refuses to leave the premises. Prefers to remain with the other bird that has been a resident at the Wildg home for more than a year and a half.

PLAN STORE IN MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY.—E. E. Leith and daughter, Amy Leith, have purchased a business lot on First street, between Jackson and Adams streets and are planning to erect a store and apartment building on the newly acquired site. Miss Leith will establish a beauty shop of modern design and equipment in one side of the building, the other side will contain store space and living apartments.

The store building under construction by Wheeler Birdwell is nearing completion.

REPEAT PLAY AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH.—A repeat performance of "Alice in Wonderland" is scheduled for next Friday, at the elementary school auditorium. The play will be put on by the fourth and fifth grades, under direction of Miss Dorothy Brinkley.

H. B. GROUP IN M. W. D. TOUR

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—A study of the Metropolitan water district project was made by city officials on a two-day trip over the route and to the Parker dam site over the week-end. It is possible that the city may become affiliated with the district, it was reported.

Mayor T. B. Fairbert, Councilman Tony Tavatt, City Attorney Ray Overacker, City Engineer Ray Overmeyer and D. E. Burry and W. H. Gallienne from the chamber of commerce made the tour as guests of officials of the Metropolitan water district.

Andrew J. Lemnox, leader in a court trial regarding the ast council election and Claude Pullen are prominent Legionnaire and former director of the chamber of commerce and member of the Newport Harbor Service club.

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—The political pot was set to brewing Saturday when two well-known residents filed nomination papers seeking election to seats on the city council.

After Thoughts

On Big Hoss Race

Some random thoughts of a guy who is still wild-eyed from that hoss race—the one at Santa Anita.

How come we can't find at least one more guy (we're the first) who is surprised at Discovery's sound beating? Yeah, how come, when a total of more than $91,000 was wagered on the Whitney nag and he went to the post a 3-2 favorite? No one thought Discovery would win—yet almost a third of the money went on the erstwhile champion. S'funny.

Also, how come so many guys had cash on Top Row and yet the little son of Peanuts paid $14.40 to win? The answer to both these questions has evaded us completely, despite the fact that the questions have been rattling around in the old noggin since about 4:30 Saturday afternoon.

And another thing. How does Col. Noel Berry get that way? Friday morning this guy, who picked Azucar last year in the $100,000 melee, walked up to our desk.

"I've got the winner," he said. "See we: 'Yeh? Who?'"

Therefore your learned correspondent took it upon himself to explain exactly why Top Row "couldn't win." We went into great detail, elucidated, gestured and thundered. Top Row! The idea! Zounds!

"Top Row," your astute sage observed, "is a stretch runner, to be sure. But he is such a little runt that when he hits that final stretch he will be lost in the shuffle. Not a chance."

The rest—we break down every time we try to tell it anyway—its too sad to tell in detail. Top Row won by squinting out around the field and flying down the stretch and under the wire—he won going away, almost.

Just to add to our great record, we influenced a lady companion who also had her mind made up on Top Row. We repeated the above formula to her so she held off on a $30 wager she had planned on this same Top Row. Only reason we escaped with enough hide to crawl back to work today is that just before post time she "agreed" that she could safely risk a couple of simoleons on Top Row to place.

Seems this department said something Friday about Thursday and Rosemont, with also a mention of Time Supply. Just forgot about Thursday. We have not thought of an excuse. As for Time Supply, we have $4 more in the wallet because of a show ticket on that nag. Rosemont—really our favorite horse—is the one we want to yammer about now.

Believe me, brethren, Rosemont is one of two horses other than Time Supply that might have won that race if it had not been for that sudden traffic congestion just as the nags rounded the last kink. Top Row, cutting in from the outside, bumped Time Supply and Time Supply bumped Rosemont. Azucar and Whopper as we saw it, also lost a little ground in the jostling.

Probably there was no intentional foul but the mixup spoiled part of the great performances by the surprise horses of the race—Rosemont and Azucar. Azucar was moving up just as he did when he won last year, charging, leaping, almost taking wings in his haste to stick that pretty nose of his under the wire. Rosemont, the old beauty, was climaxing a grand race; watch out for that nag in future classics. Azucar was a flying fourth. The old "sugar horse" is still sweet.

Santa Anita hangers: If there's a place in heaven for sports scribes, the Santa Anita press box must duplicate it. . . free bar, free lunch, facilities and communication galore; only thing we thought was missing was a sign reading: "No city editors allowed." . . . Most gossip after the handicap was that Discovery was "overtrained." . . . Few of the so-called experts picked Top Row. . . . Best ride of the day was the one Jockey Silvio Conced gave Peradventure. . . . But you gotta give Grade

Santa Ana, 40; Hollywood, 35.

Those all-conquering Mormons of Santa Ana, managed by Vernon Williams, and coached by Bernard Snow and Ted Cook, will represent Southern California at the National Mormon basketball championships in Salt Lake City, Utah, early next month.

Eliminating an opponent that was unbeaten after 16 games, the Latter Day Saints of West Myrtle street annexed a hair-raising 40-35 thriller from Hollywood in the Southland finals at Huntington Park Saturday night.

Hollywood, as anticipated, proved the strongest barrier in Santa Ana's path to the Utah tourney. Victories over Los Angeles, 47-26, and San Bernardino, 61-21, were comparatively easy.

A sensational final-quarter rally of 20 points, as many as they scored in all three of the other periods, won the Santa Anans the coveted excursion. Hollywood, behind 7-9 and 13-15 at the close of the first sessions, spurred to a 23-20 command at the end of the third, but was snowed under, 12-20, in the deciding period.

Ernest Acker, forward, showed the way for Santa Ana with 13 points, although Charley Denio, Bob Bianchar, LeRoy Sears, Ellisworth Teter, George Padias and Roland White were on their toes. Manager Williams thought his club played the best ball of the season.

The Mormons will be honored at a 5:30 o'clock dinner in the Latter Day Saints' church, 811 West Myrtle street, tonight. Arrangements for the Utah trip will be discussed. The party must be in Salt Lake City by March 4. The tournament is tentatively slated to begin the next day. Eight players, a manager and coach will be selected. It will be the second successive time that Santa Ana has represented this district.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24. (AP)—The California boxing commission is investigating the recent ten-round victory of Phil Brubaker, Dinuba, Calif., over King Levin-sky, Chicago heavyweight.

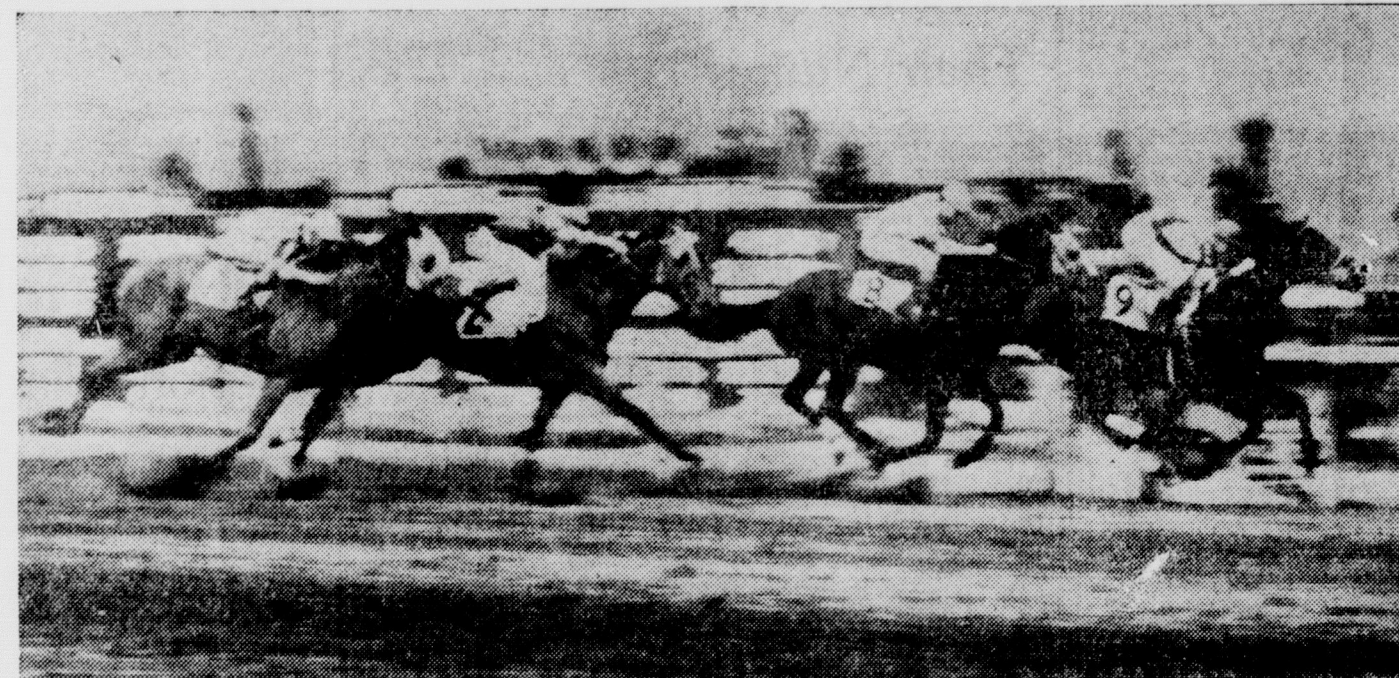

Chairman George H. Payne said the ring board was "interested" in an asserted last-minute switch in betting odds before the Levin-sky-Brubaker bout.

Hoehne Beats W.T. Loescher At Willowick

W. T. Loescher, the golfer who upset Roger Bunce, defending champion, in the first round, was eliminated by C. W. Hoehne, 1 up, in second-round matches of Willowick's annual mid-winter tourney for men. Play was conducted over the week-end.

Mr. Hoehne advanced in the first flight to a third-round match with Dewey Davis, who protected his chances for the title by defeating Houston Kier, 5 and 3.

Others still in the championship running are Gay McKing, who eliminated George Walker, and Marvin Goodall, who trimmed Dwight Ainsworth. Third-round matches must be completed by March 1.

First Flight
C. W. Hoehne (def. W. T. Loescher, 1 up) vs. Dewey Davis (def. Houston Kier, 5 and 3).
Gay McKing (def. George Walker, 3 and 2) vs. Marvin Goodall (def. Dwight Ainsworth, 2 up).

Second Flight
H. A. Bradley (def. C. O. Cartwright, 4 and 3) vs. Hal Sloper (def. Ray Echols, def. C. W. Harrison, 1 up 2nd hole) vs. Dr. L. Cameron (def. Cliff Erickson, default).

Defeated Flight

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (AP)—It's still a long lope from Madison Square Garden's board track to the Olympic cinder path in Berlin, but the goal of international triumph in the classic "metric mile" looks brightly today for Gene Venzke, Pennsylvania's picture runner and comeback sensation of the 1936 footrace season.

Venzke ended any lingering doubt of the all-conquering caliber of his return to form by taking the national 1500-meter title and world record from the great Glenn Cunningham Saturday night.

Fighting Bruins of U. C. L. A., who have lost nine games, put on a powerful burst of sharpshooting in a wild five-minute overtime period at Berkeley Saturday night and turned back California, 32 to 28. The Bears won Friday night's encounter, 34 to 32.

University of Southern California went into first place in southern division standings Friday night with a 45-to-36 victory over Stanford. The brilliant 23-point shooting of Capt. Jack Hupp, tall Trojan forward, accounted for the victory. Hupp was held to six points Saturday night as Stanford won the second game, 46 to 42.

MOVIES OF RACE SHOW HOW TOP ROW FOULED RIVALS

SANTA ANITA, Feb. 24. (AP)—Motion pictures showed today that Top Row, winner of $104,600 in the Santa Anita handicap, interfered with Time Supply, Rosemont, and Azucar, or sent one bumping against the other. A few strides further on, Top Row lugged in on Time Supply.

Jockey Wayne Wright on Top Row rode to win, and his maneuvering through holes was superb. This 20-year-old Idaho boy won $12,500. He received the customary 10 per cent from the owner and a purse donated by the Los Angeles Turf club.

Discovery Lags
Top Row's time on the clock geared to one-hundredth of a second and was 2:04.21, with Time Supply just 13-100 second behind. The track statisticians figured that on the basis of one-fifth of a second to a stride, Discovery, the prohibitive favorite, was six full lengths behind in seventh place.

Discovery, the 1935 champion, never was in the going at any time. He was bumped at the start and just didn't seem to have the heart for the race. His owner, A. G. Vanderbilt, said just before the race he thought his entry was ready for the finest race of his life. It turned out to be one of his worst.

A new record was set for wagering in California, with $1,246,428 passing through the pari-mutuel machines. On the handicap alone, $350,083 was bet.

Weather for the big race was ideal with a warm sun drying the track. More than 50,000 watched. Top Row's victory was no great surprise, for he was one of the feared competitors. Biggest share of the money, $91,121 to be exact, was down on Discovery, with Time Supply next preference and Top Row third. Discovery was the big disappointment, and Azucar the big surprise.

Hacienda Golf Club Downed By Santa Ana

Hacienda, that well-known country club north of Fullerton, could verify the report today that Santa Ana's country clubmen, captained by Dr. G. C. Ross, will cut a fancy figure in Southern California inter-team golf play this season.

Over a course still wet by recent rains, Santa Ana scored clean sweeps in a trio of matches to humble the Hacienda, 14½ to 6½, at neutral Fox Hills yesterday.

Ben Manker carded a 77 and Earl Wilson a 79 for Santa Ana as highlights of the competition. Most of the scores were high due to the condition of the Los Angeles course.

Playing on the Santa Ana links, Coronado trimmed San Diego 11½ to 9½. California, defending champion of the southland, defeated Lakeside, 19½ to 1½, at Hollywood, and Mt. Meadows beat Victoria, 12½ to 8½, at Oakmont.

Hacienda's leading threat was Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, sensational shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who contributed several long drives. The famous baseball star teamed with C. S. Benton to defeat Ray Chapman and Warren Fletcher of Santa Ana, 2 and 1.

Complete results:
Ed Holmes and W. W. (Bill) Foote (SA), 15; R. S. Carvey and Stan Schuler (H), 15; Dick Ewert and Earl Wilson (SA), 15; H. Whitaker and R. A. Burke (H), 15; S. Wright and J. K. McDonald (SA), 3; G. L. Score—Santa Ana 14½, Hacienda, 6½.

BARTHOLOMAE IN OLYMPICS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24. (AP)—America's claim to rule the Olympic seas will be upheld by two Southern Californians and a Massachusetts mariner in the yacht races at Kiel, Germany, this summer.

The United States team, named after curtailed monotype trails off San Pedro today, is composed of Owen Churchill, south coast Corinthian Yacht Club, Santa Monica; William Bartholomae, jr., Newport, and Frank B. Jewett, Vineyard Haven Yacht Club, Mass.

A former national sailing canoe champion, Bartholomae will skipper the six-meter Sloop Mystery.

REBOIN CLUB EDGES OUT POMONA

Fullerton Champs Lose At Riverside, 33-21; Hornets off Form

By PAUL WRIGHT
Basketball is making a gallant comeback at Santa Ana Junior college.

The Dons, their 1936 season completed with a 36-35 victory over inspired Pomona here Saturday, will check in court togethery this week secure in the satisfaction they have made their presence keenly felt in the Eastern conference. Four wins against two losses—not a bad record.

Erdhaus Sinks Foul
Fred Erdhaus, climaxing his career in a blaze of glory with 13 points, caged a foul shot—on a technical—in the last minute of play. That was the end. In addition, Roy Riegels' Red Raiders of an overtime period with Al Reboin's troop.

Up at Riverside, Jesse Mortensen's unbeaten Bengals turned on the steam to overcome a faltering Fullerton quintet, 33 to 21, in a "pre-view" to the two-out-of-three-game series these teams will wage for the title.

Those who saw the battle at Riverside said Fullerton was far off form, and that Arthur Nunn's Yellowjackets will return to life when the play-offs begin at Riverside Wednesday night. The second game will be played at Fullerton Saturday night, and a third—if necessary—probably will be arranged for a neutral floor next week.

Lacks Luster
The fade-out here was a lack-luster affair, thrilling only at infrequent intervals.

The Dons lost their star forward, Tommy Lacy, early in the going with a turned ankle, and their regular guards—Leonard Lockhart and Johnny Henry—were dismissed with four personals mid-way in the second half.

Pomona had a lightning-like forward in Charley Marshall, tinytime who gained all-conference rating last winter, and an awkward but nevertheless effective center in "Foots" Bunning, who flipped in 15 points.

The clever Marshall, specializing in a speedy one-handed shot from side-court, was particularly annoying with 12 points.

Kenneth Nissley, who will be one of Santa Ana's best again next season, kept pace with the sensational Erdhaus. He scored 12 points to Fred's 13. Erdhaus would roar down the court, swing in near the foul-line, and plunk the ball through the hoop with a dazzling one-handed toss, a beautiful shot.

'DIXIE BILL' IS FAVORED IN MAT BOUT

'Bomber' Herman, Crowd Baiter, Tangles With Jerry Monohan

The customers asked for it and, since the customer is always right—Bill Sledge, newest local wrestling hero, will tangle with tough Charlie Santen tonight at Promotor Sam Sampson's Highway 101 arena.

The main event assignment is a reward for topnotch work by handsome "Dixie Bill," since the new idol is undefeated in four appearances here and has leaped up to popularity almost equalling that of Nick Lutze and Casey Columbo, the fair-haired boys of by-gone days. The battle is for three falls or one hour.

Bill's Record
Bill earned his place in the local wrestling sun by holding Dirty Dick Daviscourt to a draw, then added greatly to his reputation by fighting a grueling 45-minute draw with Sam Zabar. In addition he made monkeys out of Jerry Monohan, Irish rougher, and Stan Pinto, another would-be tough guy. All this work met with approval of the wrestling clientele. He will enter the ring tonight a prime favorite.

Experts believe that within a few weeks the muscular young Sledge, who knows all the tricks of the wrestling, will combine them with all the fan-fare of modern wrestling, will be given top booking at the mecca for all wrestling, the Los Angeles Olympic auditorium.

Herman vs. Monohan
Ad (Bomber) Herman, who delights in baiting the crowd even if it means additional trouble for him, tackles Jerry Monohan in a battle of villains, for one fall, 30-minute time limit. Herman has almost as many enemies as Ernie Dusek or We Willie Davis, but he always can be depended upon for an active performance.

Dutch Holland, a nice kid from Hollywood who is shooting along toward better things, takes on Louie Mayo, Mexican champion, in another preliminary.

'LITTLE NRA' LOSES L. A. TEST CASE

California's Unfair Practices Act, sometimes referred to as the "little NRA," was declared unconstitutional and a "monopoly threat" to all business, in a decision handed down Saturday by Superior Judge Clarence L. Kincaid, in Los Angeles.

The act prohibited the resale of commodities at prices below those paid by the retailer, or offering goods to the public at less than cost, plus the cost of doing business.

R. Y. DeBritton, manager of the Empire Market in Santa Ana, was tried under the act some months ago, and was acquitted. The juror's opinion Saturday was the result of a test case brought by a Los Angeles grocer to restrain a competitor from selling items below cost.

Judge Kincaid ruled that "enforcement of the act would, in effect, encourage the creation of perpetuation of monopolies; that the same is arbitrary and discriminatory; is in violation of Article 1, Section 1, of the state constitution, and of Article XIV, Section 1, of the United States constitution, and is therefore void."

THREE BIRTHDAYS ARE CELEBRATED AT ORANGE

ORANGE.—Several Orange residents celebrated their birthday anniversaries on the same day as George Washington, among them Mrs. James Pannell, South Cambridge street.

Several friends were her afternoon guests Saturday including Mr. and Mrs. Will Jackson, South Pasadena, Mrs. Mabel Alderman, San Gabriel; Mrs. James Williams and daughter, Dorothy, and Mrs. William Johnson, all of Los Angeles.

On Sunday Mrs. Pannell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Neighbors, Corona, gave a birthday dinner in her honor. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Pannell, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pannell, John Pannell, Eugene Crane, all of Orange, and Vera May Neighbors, Corona.

Miss Eldene Watson was also a birthday celebrant Saturday. On Sunday her grandmother gave a birthday dinner in her honor, guests at which were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Watson.

John Campbell was the third who celebrated his birthday on Feb. 22. John was honored on his ninth anniversary.

FIRST THREE OF LECTURE SERIES GIVEN AT CHURCH

"Science and religion are the twin daughters of the voice of God," said the Rev. Julia Budlong in her sermon yesterday morning at the Unitarian church.

Last night, Professor Edward P. Morton, A. M., J. D., LL. M., of the Los Angeles Junior college faculty, declared the inclusion of supernaturalism and "magic" in religion, in his address at the church of "Magic in Religion."

His was the third talk in the annual institute of liberal religion series now in progress at the church.

Saturday night Professor Joseph M. Cormack of the U. S. C. faculty, law department, gave "A Summary of All the Suggested Causes of the Fall of the Roman Civilization."

Friday night at the church Mrs. Alice Ames Winters, M. A., director of the public relations department of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, will begin the second week's trio of talks in the institute.

CLASS FURNISHES CHURCH MUSIC

ORANGE.—Members of the Friendly Hand class of the Presbyterian church provided music for the evening service at the church Sunday.

The class orchestra, directed by Percy Green, includes Mrs. Earl Hobbs, Mrs. Alden Davis, Mrs. W. Woods, W. C. Ahlmann, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Vern O. Estes, Mrs. Carl Pister, Mrs. Paul Clark and Harlan Walworth. Wilbur Carpenter and Mrs. Orlo Hobbs sang a duet. Other class members formed the choir. The class teacher is Mrs. Gussie A. White, Long Beach.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. J. W. McKean, a medical missionary for many years in Siam. Dr. Robert B. McAulay announced a meeting of the Sunday school cabinet to be held this evening in the church, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected, and plans made for Easter. Mrs. F. M. Gulick will speak briefly.

Official Marriage Bureaus Proposed For Nazi Germany

BERLIN, Feb. 24. (AP)—Establishment of official matrimonial bureaus for Nazi Germany was proposed in the official journal of the public health department.

The idea that "marriages are made in heaven" has no place in the Nazi ideology, said an article by Dr. F. P. Potenhauer.

The doctor developed the view that inasmuch as marriage is an act of responsibility to the state and nation, official marriage bureaus should be established for bachelors and spinners who wish to wed but have been unable to find suitable life partners.

In addition, Potenhauer urged that special arrangements be

A Cheshire Cat May Grin All Day, But He's Not An Optimist

By FRANCES TIPTON LONG
Noted Authority on Charm and Personality

The Cheshire Cat in "Alice in Wonderland" wore a perpetual grin. But that doesn't prove he was an optimist. He was merely silly. To be an optimist one need not imitate a laughing hyena nor need the corners of one's lips be always turned skyward as though a plastic surgeon had made a mistake.

Optimism is simply self confidence in events. The optimist may not believe that there is a pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow, but he does believe that the search will reveal something friendship or popularity. Quinine is helpful, too, for many things, but how many of us like quinine?

The optimist, on the other hand, is likely to have hosts of friends and admirers. Why not? He brings us hope when things go wrong. He is not only light hearted himself but he lends encouragement to others. His, or her, warm, friendly disposition, his happy temperament, his sympathetic encouragement, strikes a responsive chord in our hearts and we cannot help but like him.

I hope some day to have pleasure of meeting you

worth while and so is worth the trouble.

Some of the books on handwriting analysis will tell you that uphill writing denotes the optimistic person with a sunny disposition while down-hill writers are those who think the world is all wrong and humanity not worth saving. But this is only partly true. Many optimistic people may write down hill for other reasons, while pessimists may on occasion write up hill.

But one thing is certain: pessimism is not a trait which helps build charm. The fault finders, the naggers, the person who always sees the hole and never the doughnut makes a most unfavorable impression on other people. A gloomy appearance, dire forebodings and dismal outlook do not make for popularity. If you have been wondering why you don't make friends easily and why you have so much difficulty in keeping those you do make, perhaps it is your pessimistic outlook that is causing the trouble.

It is really too bad, because many pessimists are actually sincere. They advance unfavorable opinions, point out the dark side of things, the hidden dangers, in a genuine desire to avoid disaster. There are two sides to every question and the pessimist is useful in helping to see both sides. Often he is right.

But, although his attitude may be helpful, it does not inspire

FIRESTONE BACK IN SANTA ANA

C. P. Firestone, for the past four years manager of the Fullerton Firestone Tire Company store, today assumed charge of the Santa Ana store. Before going to Fullerton he was with the local store.

Mr. Firestone in his years with the company has had a thorough training in the business, beginning with factory experience at both Akron and Los Angeles. He has spent six years in the retail selling end of the business in Orange county, and has a wide acquaintance in Santa Ana and the northern part of the county.

Howard L. Ryan, former manager of the Santa Ana store, will remain here as assistant to Mr. Firestone.

How Counties In State Got Their Names

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting bit of trivia. Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, the Bureau of Public Works, Earl Lee Kelly has prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California, including a few salient facts about each county.

VENTURA COUNTY

Created March 22, 1872. On March 30, 1782, Padres Junipero Serra, O. S. A., created a mission at San Buenaventura, San Buenaventura, Doctor Serafio (St. Bonaventura, Serafio Doctor) which is the name under which Giovanni de Fidenza of Tuscan was canonized. Buenaventura is composed of two Spanish words, "Buena" meaning good, and "Ventura" meaning fortune; hence the name signifies "good fortune." The county took its name from the latter Spanish word "Ventura." San Buenaventura has at all times been the name of the town, but this beautiful and euphonious name has been abbreviated by the United States post office department to "Ventura."

Ventura, with its splendid highways and beautiful cities, occupies a most enviable position among the counties of California. As a producer of agricultural products it ranks high in the nation. Because of its great oil fields, it is third among the counties of the state in mineral production. It is noted as an industrial center. Its ocean beaches, mountain scenery, mineral hot springs, deep sea fishing, trout streams, game preserves and scenic drives draw thousands of visitors annually.

Every variety of soil is found within the county. Of the ten counties comprising Southern California, Ventura claims first in the production of apricots, sugar beets and walnuts; second in lemons and fifth in oranges. Compared with all counties of the state, Ventura is second in the production of apricots and lemons, fifth in avocados, guavas and loquats, sixth in the production of grapes, grapefruit and first in walnuts. The citrus crop annually brings in about $9,440,000. The county is said to be the greatest lima bean producing area in the world. Almonds, grapes, grain, hay, vegetables, berries, apples, figs, peaches and pears are other outstanding crops. Dairying is one of the county's greatest industries.

California's oil industry dates from 1860, but the first oil development of note was on the south slope of Sulphur mountain in Ventura in 1864. Virtually all large oil companies operate in Ventura and thousands of acres have been leased in the vicinity of Oxnard, Somis, Camarillo, Montalvo, Simi, Santa Susana and other sections.

The motorist can find no drives more alluring than those in Ventura, taking in the cities of Camarillo, Fillmore, Moorpark, Pico, Ojai, the prosperous and modern city of Oxnard, delightful Santa Paula, the town of Piru, the "Home of Romona," immortalized by Helen Hunt Jackson; Wheeler Springs and Seape Canyon.

Ventura, county seat, is famed for its beaches, gasoline and sugar refineries and other industries. Population: 54,976. Area: 1,858 square miles.

MORE ABOUT RITCHIE

(Continued From Page One) to the platform of 1932. He had planned, intimate friends disclosed, to make this fight at the convention and considered a speaking tour to urge a return to the platform of four years ago, which he helped to write.

Defeated in 1934 His last public utterance was on the constitution. Addressing a church meeting across the street from his home a few hours before his death, he had sharply criticized centralizations of government at Washington and opposed to constitutional tenets.

Ritchie, overshadowing political figure in Maryland for 15 years—until his defeat in 1934 for a fifth term as governor—was alone in his apartment when he became fatally ill.

Summons Aid Sensing the seriousness of his condition, he hurriedly summoned his personal secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Smith, from her home about midnight. Mrs. Smith found him seated, helpless and in a semi-

REUNION HELD BY VETERANS

More than 75 members of the old Company L, National Guard, met in Santa Ana Saturday at Getty hall for the annual company reunion, with Captains J. L. McBride and Nelson M. Holderman, Napa county veterans' home commandant, as guests of honor.

Among guests who addressed the group were Captains Holderman and McBride, Colonel S. H. Finley, original company commander; Major A. F. Moulton, paymaster; Lieutenants I. D. Jaynes, Charles D. Swanner and A. K. Ford.

Honorary members introduced were W. B. Williams and Terry E. Stephenson, who have attended every meeting since the inception of the Company L association. Grover C. Riehl, Tustin, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, and George A. Smith, Tustin, was named secretary. President Riehl announced the 1937 meeting would be in the form of an all-day picnic with a barbecue dinner as highlight.

Thirty seconds of silence were observed in honor of the memory of Edward Blackmore and L. D. Ayres, who have died since the last meeting of the company. Dick Hawkins, president, and Buck Fipps, secretary, were in charge of the meeting.

conscious condition in a chair, near the telephone.

After several unsuccessful attempts to reach nearby physicians, she located Dr. Cecil Bagley, who, with Dr. Richard Coblenz, hurried to the former governor's apartment. They found Ritchie lying unconscious on the floor of his study, where he apparently had fallen while his secretary was summoning aid.

Eight tanks of oxygen were administered, but Ritchie failed to rally. Ritchie often remarked that his defeat by Governor Nice "probably was a blessing in disguise," and that, owing to a break in his health just before the 1934 election, he probably would not have survived the strain of another executive term. At the end of his gubernatorial tenure, Ritchie returned to private law practice in Baltimore.

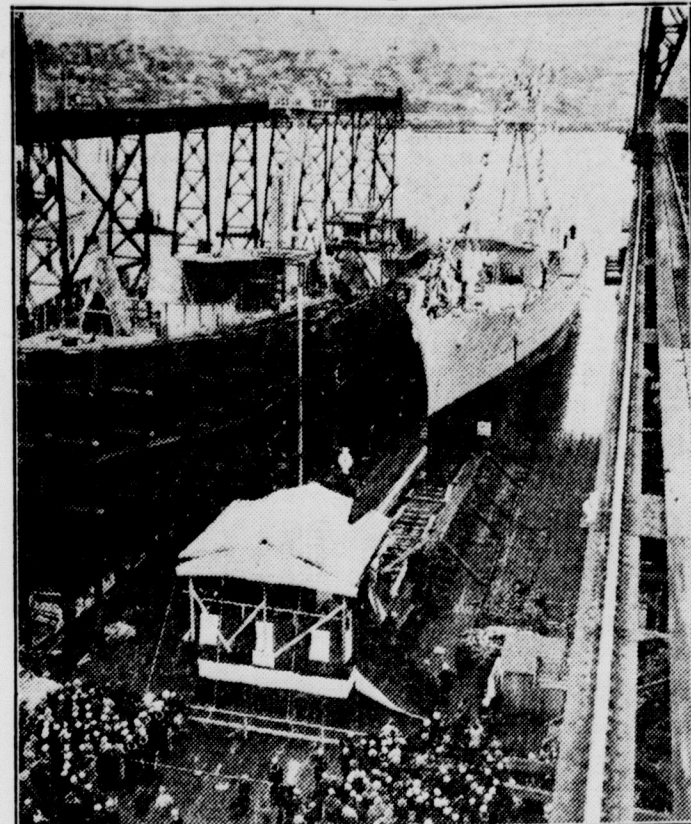

Ritchie, always a strong personality and outspoken in his convictions, ascended to nationwide notice in 1922 by his blunt opposition to prohibition—a stand that then was unpopular in many sections, especially the South, Democratic stronghold. Flaying the 18th amendment as a destroyer of states' rights, he boldly set forth his position whenever called upon to speak upon the heated issue.

COOLIDGE THINGS ON BLOCK Auction Planned In Spring

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Feb. 24. (AP)—Furniture with which the late President Calvin Coolidge set up housekeeping 30 years ago will go under a Northampton auctioneer's hammer this spring.

Auctioneer George Bean, a justice of peace and court probation officer, listed the pieces, now in storage. No date has been set for the sale, but it is expected it will be completed before Mrs. Grace Coolidge, Coolidge, the President's widow, returns from a trip to England.

Coolidge, who rose from mayor of this city to become the 30th President of the United States, left his imprint even in the auction list. The articles for sale include two small zinc-lined chests in which cigars were shipped here from Washington and which the late President carefully saved with his customary frugality.

Other historical pieces include virtually all the oak furnishings of the modest Massachusetts street duplex house to which Coolidge took his bride after their wedding in October, 1905.

Mrs. Coolidge retained enough furnishings to supply her needs when she returns to Northampton. The "Beeches" estate where Coolidge died three years ago, is for sale, and where Mrs. Coolidge will live is yet unannounced.

TINIEST COMET DISCOVERED 'Visitor' Almost Snubbed

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 24. (AP)—Earth just had a celestial visitor—and snubbed it, Harvard astronomers have announced.

It was a little comet or asteroid (scientists are not quite certain which) only a third of a mile in diameter; the tiniest object ever discovered by astronomers.

Not until the small asteroid or comet was hurrying away did the people of earth rub their eyes and realize a visitor figuratively had brushed their elbows.

It is called Delpote object, because Dr. E. Delpote of Belgium discovered it. That was 12 days ago. Word of the discovery did not reach American astronomers until a week later.

Now astronomers are belatedly training batteries of great telescopes and cameras upon the fleeting object.

Astronomers have not yet worked out accurate estimates, but they think the little fellow came within 5,000,000 miles, perhaps as close as 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 miles. That is nearer than any other asteroid has come and closer than the approach of any, but one or two comets.

Harvard astronomers fixed the weight of the new body at about 500 million tons, or about that of a small mountain. They figured it is one-third of a mile in diameter or nearly 25,000 times smaller than the earth.

GOV. TALMADGE OUSTS GEORGIA COMPTROLLER IN MONEY ROW

SEND OFFICER TO REMOVE OFFICIAL

Harrison Dismissed for 'Neglecting His Duty,' Backed by Treasurer

ATLANTA, Feb. 24. (AP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge removed Comptroller William B. Harrison from office today, for Harrison's refusal to countersign warrants in the absence of a 1936 appropriations act.

He commissioned Adj. Gen. Lindley Camp to serve the order. The governor's order suspended Harrison until the 1937 session of the state legislature.

Escorted From Post
Adjutant General Camp, who heads the state's national guard, went to Harrison's office and escorted him from his post.

Several national guardsmen in civilian clothes stood outside the door as the adjutant general was escorted with Harrison, and remained there after Harrison left.

The governor's order removing Harrison said:

"It appears from trustworthy information that the comptroller general of Georgia, William B. Harrison, grossly neglect his duties and is guilty of conduct plainly violative of his duties and demeans himself in office to the hazard of the public funds and credit of the state."

The order placed C. B. Carreker, chief clerk of the department of agriculture when Talmadge was agricultural commissioner, in the office of comptroller general.

Signs Warrant
Carreker's first act was to sign the warrant of more than $100,000 for the state's charity institutions, which Harrison had refused to sign.

The warrant immediately was transmitted to Treasurer George B. Hamilton who said: "I am taking it under advisement."

Hamilton has said that he would back up the ousted comptroller general by refusing to sign any warrants for 1936 revenue.

Governor Talmadge took over the financial "dictatorship" of the state Jan. 1 because of the failure of the 1935 legislature to enact an appropriations bill.

EX-SANTA ANA WOMAN KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

Mrs. J. W. Sackman of West Sixth street received word yesterday of the sudden death of Mrs. Evelyn Grimes, 72, of Pasadena, former Santa Ana resident.

Mrs. Grimes was struck by a hit-and-run driver Saturday night and died two hours later in the Pasadena General hospital.

NAVY CHIEF'S AIDE DIES SUDDENLY

H. L. Roosevelt, Cousin Of President, Is Victim Of Flu

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—Col. Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and a distant cousin of President Roosevelt, died suddenly late Saturday at the Naval hospital here. He was 57 years of age.

The assistant secretary, who was acting secretary of the navy during the current illness of Secretary Swanson, was taken to the hospital Friday. His attack was diagnosed as intestinal influenza.

New Jersey Native

Col. Roosevelt was born in Morristown, N. J., on Oct. 5, 1879. The son of Nicholas Roosevelt, he entered the naval academy with the class of 1900, but left before graduation to become a second lieutenant in the marine corps for service aboard the U.S.S. Mayflower in the war with Spain.

Married in 1902 to Miss Eleanor Morrow of San Francisco, the assistant secretary remained in the marine corps until 1920, when he resigned to enter private business. His marine career found him assistant naval attaché at the outbreak of the World war, but he was transferred to Washington headquarters.

Served in Haiti

In 1916 he went to Haiti with the marine occupation service, holding the office of colonel in the gendarmerie d'Haiti until 1917, when he was transferred to the base at Quantico, Va.

After leaving the service, Col. Roosevelt joined the Radio Corporation of America in 1923, serving as European manager from 1925 to 1930.

Appointed in 1933

In 1930 he became president of the Radio Real Estate corporation. Wealthy in his own right, Col. Roosevelt had continued his interest in the navy. With former Secretary Edwin E. Denby, he was one of the few navy executives who had an intimate knowledge of the department. He was appointed assistant secretary on March 17, 1933.

In addition to his widow, he leaves two sons, William M. and Henry L., and a daughter, Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, who made her debut in Washington society several seasons ago.

FINISH TUNNEL ON TUESDAY

Conquest of another underground section of the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct will be completed tomorrow Tuesday when construction crews break through to daylight at the east end of the three-mile Pasadena tunnel of the aqueduct distribution system.

The event will be witnessed by the board of directors of the water district, the board of directors of the city of Pasadena, and officials of the construction firm of Dixon, Bent Brothers & Johnson, contractors on the job. Los Angeles city officials also have been invited to attend.

Unique among aqueduct tunnels, the Pasadena bore passes beneath a thickly populated section of the city of Pasadena, a considerable section of its length being located directly under Mountain street, one of the city's principal traffic arteries.

The tunnel forms an important link in the distribution system which will carry Colorado river water from the western terminus of the main aqueduct to the 13 member cities of the Metropolitan Water District.

Excavation of the three-mile bore will be completed almost exactly a year after its start. Work on the tunnel was launched on Feb. 21, 1935, from its west portal in the Arroyo Seco, near the Rose Bowl.

A covered-dish luncheon is slated.

TINY ISLE UNDER NAVY'S CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—President Roosevelt by executive order has placed the tiny island of Kure, west of Midway island in the Pacific, under navy department control.

The island has been under the civil control of the Hawaiian territory. At the navy department the only reason advanced for the transfer was that Midway is under navy control and the change now places the tiny neighboring isle in the same category.

Kure is just a small coral strip.

TOMATO PACT FIGHT TAKEN TO CAPITAL

County Growers Critical Of Marketing Plan; Ask New Contract

Criticism of tomato marketing arrangements was taken straight to the California assembly Saturday, when growers of Orange county and other tomato producing counties testified before the assembly interim committee on agricultural marketing problems in Los Angeles. Assemblyman James B. Utt, Santa Ana, is a member of the committee.

Tomato growers offered specific criticism of arrangements under which canneries contribute to a fund from which state department of health inspectors receive salaries, expressing the opinion that the set up is conducive to gradings favorable to the canneries.

County Men Testify

Clarence Brown, San Juan Capistrano, president of the Orange County Vegetable Growers association, and Lawrence Kokx, Orange, manager of the association, testified that some canneries contracted for more tomatoes than they could use, and that the inspectors turned down shipments which in the growers' opinions met standards.

Growers in general were united in asking that a more favorable form of contract be evolved, and that higher prices be paid for their products.

It was testified that truck loads of tomatoes were rejected on several occasions when the canneries' tomato platforms were full. Mr. Brown said that produce rejected on one occasion were accepted the next day.

Avocado Problem

Growers testified favorably, in most instances, on California standardization laws.

The problem of supplying avocados to the "elite" in small towns is being pondered by the committee.

Mrs. J. P. Olson, San Diego, secretary of the Caligueros Pear Association, said sometimes small town markets charged twice as much for avocados as metropolitan markets.

"It's rather hard to be a member of the elite," said Assemblyman Martin of Altadena.

Supply and Demand

"Well, where the demand is greater than the supply such things happen," said Mrs. Olson. "Gas prices go up or down depending on production."

Mrs. Olson said her association, representing from 10 to 15 percent of the state's avocado production, opposed pro-rating distribution under the state marketing act.

Homer A. Harris, secretary of a Los Angeles produce firm, told the committee that California's green vegetable market is controlled by Japanese farmers, who produce 80 percent of the foodstuffs grown in the state.

18 Set Prices

Harris said 18 Japanese commission houses, working with growers and retail stores, virtually set the prices at which green vegetables are sold in Los Angeles.

"However, I do not think such stabilization of prices is wrong. Price fluctuations that in the long run are expensive for producer and consumer alike are prevented by the practice. I don't think the Japanese set prices that are either too low or too high, all things considered."

'MIND' IS SUBJECT AT SCIENCE CHURCH

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text was from the Proverbs: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; and the knowledge of the holy is understanding."

The Lesson-Sermon presented also these other verses from the Proverbs: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths. . . . Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding." It cited also the words of Paul to the Philippians: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."

Among the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was the statement: "When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the scriptural command: 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.'"

IOWANS PICNIC ON SATURDAY

Many former residents of Iowa now living in Santa Ana and Orange county will attend the annual winter Hawkeye picnic reunion, to be held next Saturday at Lincoln park, Los Angeles.

Gov. Frank Merriam and Mrs. Merriam will be honor guests, and greetings will be extended the crowd by Governor Merriam, a native of Iowa.

Judge Edmund Nichols, president of the Iowa Association of Southern California, announced that Dr. Francis D. Blakeslee will speak on Lincoln as he knew him; Dr. Elwood T. Bailey will speak on the San Diego exposition, and there will be a musical program.

Ten acres of park, it was announced, will be turned into a miniature Iowa, with each county in place with headquarters for the meeting place and registrations.

SIX SANTA ANA STUDENTS ENTER POMONA COLLEGE

Six Santa Ana and one Orange student at Pomona college observed one of the college's oldest traditions last week when they signed the great college register. Those local students who took part following their matriculation included Florence Liggett, Dora Lloyd, Letitia Morgan, Jean Jordan, Janet Raitt and Don Watson of Santa Ana, and Malinda Walker, Orange.

To matriculate at Pomona college a student must have satisfied entrance requirements and attained a C grade average in class work. This year 195 freshmen and 76 advanced standing students matriculated.

Traditional feature of the day in which Santa Ana students took part was the signing of the great register, in which are contained signatures of all graduates of Pomona college since its founding in 1887 as one of the California's first colleges.

DEATH TAKES MONNETTE, BANKER

Toxic Poisoning Fatal to Bank of America Vice President

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24. (AP)—Orra E. Monnette, 62, vice president of the Bank of America, died at a Hollywood hospital last night. Death was caused by toxic poisoning, from which the banker had suffered in recent weeks. Mrs. Monnette and their daughter, Helen, were at the bedside.

Born near Bucyrus, Ohio, Monnette practiced law in his native state before coming to Los Angeles in 1907. He was president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings bank here from 1912 to 1922 and a year later helped found the Bank of America, Los Angeles, which was taken over by the Bank of Italy. Monnette became a vice president in the reorganization.

He was president of the library commission, former director of the U. S. chamber of commerce, and president of the Los Angeles chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Powdered Wigs Bow Over Dessert Tables at Washington Colonial Party

Stately Minuet Feature Of Program

23 Tables Are in Play of Afternoon's Games; Prizes Awarded

The country's first president, himself, might have nodded approval over the pretty colonial frocks and powdered wigs which lent their dignity to the benefit dessert party, given by past noble grand of Sycamore Rebekah lodge Saturday afternoon in the T. O. G. F. hall.

Boston cream pie, in keeping with the day's motif, was served as the dessert course. Prizes were awarded at the close of the afternoon to high score holders at each table in 500, contract, auction and pinch.

Bringing color to the party, a group of eight in colonial costume, presented a minuet. Those in the dance were Miss Pearl Nicholson, Mrs. Edith Johnston, Mrs. Herman J. Zabel, Mrs. Hazel Ryan, Miss Letitia Morgan, Mrs. E. Curtis, Mrs. John G. Baker and Mrs. R. E. West. La Verne Stovall accompanied the dancers.

The dance culminated in a grand march of all those who had worn costumes to the party. Judges of the costumes were Mrs. W. E. Patterson, Mrs. Anna James and Jess Prevost. First prize went to Mrs. Zabel and Mrs. Baker took honorable mention.

Mrs. Charles B. Morgan was awarded a special prize for the day.

Tables for the dessert course had been arranged in a hollow square with a center round table bearing a series of small colonial figures, dancing the minuet. Lodge flags were crossed in the center of the room and smaller American flags were used with Washington hatchets to decorate. Small bowls of red sweet peas were floral arrangements.

Mrs. A. F. Muller was general chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. John Crawford, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Bess McDonald, Mrs. Zabel, Mrs. Elizabeth Price and little Patricia Price.

ORIENTAL BEAUTIES DESCRIBED TO CLUB

Imagine climbing a long, flowered hill to find at the top a tower of gold 375 feet high with 15,000 bells tinkling in the breeze and some 6,000 diamonds, emeralds, and rubies studding the ancient weather vane!

Such was the tale for members of the Laguna Beach Women's club when Walter Wright Parker of Oakland, spoke before a meeting Friday afternoon on "Shrines and Temples, Religion and Worship of the Orient."

"Every shrine and temple in the Orient is a jewel box," he said. "Marble, diamonds, emeralds and pearls are in profusion. Statues of Buddha are studded with diamonds. One kneels on beautifully carved marble, and water jugs are made of pale yellow alabaster. I have never seen such beauty!"

Mr. Parker sketched the history and interesting phases of Buddhism, Hinduism, and Mohammedanism and painted vivid pictures of his visits to the many mosques and places of worship. "I found," he concluded, "that there is beauty in all religions."

A luncheon was served preceding the talk. The club appointed Mrs. Henry Kenyon Beckwith as their representative on the Art Festival committee, and appointed Mrs. Leslie Kimmel and Mrs. C. Valentine as a committee to support the tree-planting plans now before the city council.

Wedding On March 28 Is Told

Washington bridge tallies concealed not table numbers last night when Miss Miriam Samuelson gave a party at her home, 2021 Greenleaf, but the names of the hostess and Carleton Smith written on a small red heart. The two are to be married March 28 at the First Methodist church.

Each of the guests was presented with a single red rosebud as she was welcomed to Miss Samuelson's home. The hostess wore a corsage of gardenias.

Miss Helen Demetriou, who is to be maid of honor, and Mrs. Clyde Higgins, who is to be her other attendant, poured at the buffet supper table, which had been centered with red, white and blue flowers. Dainty petit fours had been topped with cherries and bright jello salads, flying tiny flags, were served.

Miss Samuelson had received her diamond engagement ring at Christmas time, not revealing it until last night.

Both of the betrothed attended Santa Ana Junior college. Mr. Smith is an employee of the Security First National bank.

PEGASUS TAKES TO DAFFODILS

What daffodils and the spring-time had inspired for Pegasus club members came to light yesterday afternoon at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Macurda, 2311 Riverside drive, with Mrs. Jack Geraghty as hostess. To accentuate the motif, the hostess had arranged a bowl of daffodils in her living room.

Mrs. Charles Briscoe read "Daffodils" by Wordsworth, from which the day's quotation had been taken.

Holly Lash Visel sang Kathleen Lockhart Manning's "Voyage" and "Paris." Mrs. Earl Morris read a poem, "Springtime in the Valley." Mrs. Frank Was gave lines of thought, entitled "Beauty."

A Sad, Sad Story, and "Gold of Gladness," in blank verse, were read by Mrs. Walter Foote. Mrs. George Bond read a sonnet, "Like the Daffodils."

"Spring of the year," word pictures, was presented by Mrs. Caleb Jackson. Mrs. Macurda read a poem, "Realization." Two poems, "A Prayer," and "Twilight Reveries," were read by Mrs. Charles Fuller. Mrs. Frank Lansdown gave "Silence," a poem, and Mrs. Geraghty, another poem, "Introspection."

Following presentation of the original writings, Bob Noble and George Hyde played a clarinet and cornet duet of the love song from the Peter Pan Players recent operetta, "Over the Garden Wall." Bob Noble played "Flight of the Bumble Bee" by Rimsky-Korsakov as a clarinet solo.

Mrs. Geraghty sang "Trees," by Rossbach, and "Go to Sleep," written by her husband, Mrs. J. B. Wolfe, who returned this week from a trip to Mexico, was also present.

The tea table had been set with George Washington decorations. Mrs. Briscoe poured. Mrs. Geraghty was assisted in serving by Mrs. Macurda.

M. Martin Beginners' Fashion Fortifies A Spring Wardrobe

PATTERN 9729

"I'm ready!" it seems to say—this trim young shirtmaker frock without which spring wardrobes will be incomplete? Easy to make? Yes, indeed! Anyone can make it without the slightest difficulty for Marian Martin has included an illustrated Sew Chart that's every inch a competent guide. Furthermore, she designed this A-1 beginners' fashion with all-in-one sleeves and yoke, to further simplify cutting and fitting. There's a jaunty pointed collar that's just right for tucking away gay scarfs beneath—patch pockets, and a crisp little skirt pleat that calls for action. It's none too soon to make it up in silk shirting, necktie silk print or one of those sporty new synthetic cottons or a neat tunic. You'll find it's smart with a host of different accessories, too.

Pattern 9729 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3½ yards 36-inch fabric. Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Be sure to send for our New Spring Pattern Book! You'll be happy as a lark over the way it simplifies your clothes problems! Dozens of easy-to-make, flattering designs—smart both for now and later in the season. News of spring fabrics and accessories. Special slenderizing designs. Clothes budget hints. Patterns for children, misses, adults. Price of book 15 cents. Book and a pattern together, 25 cents.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth St., Santa Ana, Cal.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women

Do you think wearing high heels impair a girl's health?

Miss Martha Allen Lee: Worn in moderation, I don't think high heels have any effect on a girl's health. I certainly think they're much prettier on some occasions.

Miss Alma McClain: I've heard it does, but I wouldn't know for sure.

MALE CHORUS IS FEATURE ON KVOE

Two songs, favorites of the past and present, will be vocalized by the Sterling Male Chorus of eight voices on the Musical Moments program when they will sing "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" and "Roll On, Mississippi, Roll On," over KVOE at 7 o'clock tonight.

The violin solo, "Plantation Dance," with orchestral accompaniment, also will be featured. The program will open with the new dance tune, "Kissing My Baby Goodnight."

The smooth rhythm of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadian orchestra will be heard on the Ritz Rhythms program at 7:15 o'clock tonight.

Novelty Numbers
The tenor solo numbers, "The Broken Record" and "Quicker Than You Can Say Jack Robinson" will be offered, together with two other popular tunes of the day, "Alone at a Table for Two" and "When a Great Love Comes Along."

Another factual dramatization of a true story, based upon police records, will be offered in tonight's "Calling All Cars" broadcast from KVOE at 7:30.

Details of tonight's story were not available at a late hour, but it promises to be one of Producer Bill Robinson's best. "Calling All Cars" broadcast, scheduled every Monday from KVOE at the same hour, follows closely the details of the crime being re-enacted.

Origin of Words
In the third broadcast of the series, "Your Choice of Words," at 5:30 p. m. today, the speaker will discuss origins of various words such as "anthology," "salary," "grocer," "doctor," and others, and will suggest uses and means of using the dictionary. Ralph W. Smedley, the speaker, is instructor in chairmanship in the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools, is the founder of the Toastmasters clubs now established throughout the United States and Canada, and is general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. He is heard every Monday on KVOE at the same time.

The famous "Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech" song and other well known collegiate songs will be programmed on the "Acme" feature at 6:45 o'clock tonight to include the "Fight Song" and "Alma Mater March of Washington State college, and a medley of fox trot rhythm arrangements by Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadian orchestra, including songs of the universities of Indiana, Ohio State, Minnesota, Michigan, Purdue, Iowa, Illinois, Northwestern and Chicago.

"Paths of Glory"
By HUMPHREY COBB

THE STORY SO FAR
The 181st regiment of the line, a crack French combat unit, is marching back to the trenches. It had been sent to a rest area only that morning after several days of severe fighting. The tired poilus are being hurried back into action following a conference between the army commander and the division commander—the hard-boiled ambitious, efficient General Assolant. The army C. O. has told the latter that commander-in-chief is upset because a German strong point, called The Pimple, has not been captured as had been reported erroneously in a daily communiqué. Assolant as first objects to the feasibility of taking this miniature Gibraltar, but finally promises it to his superior "for lunch" within two days after it is implied that Assolant will receive the coveted star of a grand officer of the Legion of Honor. The weary but valiant 181st has been picked as the spearhead of this smash at The Pimple. The poilus are trucking grimly through the dark towards another blood bath. A shell exploded in a group of poilus, a large piece of it hitting the gallant Lieutenant Poissac and throwing him into a deep chalk pit. He died in agony. Forty-nine were killed and wounded during the relief. . . . Captain Charpentier, commanding No. 2 company, orders Lieut. Roget on a reconnaissance patrol, recommending that Private Didier be taken along. Roget demurs, declaring Didier is jealous because the former was a commission, but Capt. Charpentier says Didier is a first class scout and must be taken on this trip into No Man's Land. Primed with brandy, Roget goes with Didier and Lejeune on that dangerous mission.

CHAPTER IX
Roget was working along the German wire now, with Lejeune behind him and Didier a couple of metres off on the flank. The Pimple loomed on their left, an enormous-looking bulk, cutting cleanly into the moonlit sky. They felt as if they were crawling on its base; actually they were about three or four hundred metres from it.

Roget belched.

Instantly a flare went off, so close it seemed as if they had fired it themselves. A machine gun started to rattle, and they lay still as death, pressing themselves into the unyielding earth. The flare burst right over them, the machine gun was firing over their too, and they felt huge and naked on a naked plane. They held their breaths and their minds were emptied of all thought.

The flare went out and the machine gun, after two or three more bursts, stopped firing. Didier could hear a little bunch of shells traveling quietly, high overhead.

The German wire began to bulge and to force them over in the direction of their own line. They crossed a series of shell holes linked by shallow trenches. The earth seemed quite fresh to Didier, and he wondered if Roget had noticed it. A little further on, they came to an area thick with French corpses. The smell was nauseating. Roget started belching again, speeding up his pace, going forward heedless of the noise he was making and reckless of the danger he might be running into.

Didier started to close in on him from his flank position and succeeded in catching him by the leg.

"Nom Dieu! Don't do that!" It was almost a shriek.

"Another sound out of you, and I'll kill you," Didier whispered.

"Well, don't sneak up on me like that, then. It's enough to make anybody jump out of his skin. Hurry up and get me away from these bodies. I'm going to be sick."

"Go ahead and vomit, you swine, and be quiet about it. We're right in front of a strong point here."

There was a low gurgling sound while Roget gave up his cognac and spread it in a puddle under his nose.

"Come over in this direction," said Didier.

They drew away from the bulging German wire and moved out towards the center of no-man's-land. They gathered for a while in a shell-hole to take stock of things and to give Roget a chance to pull himself together. Then they went on again, in V formation. Didier on the lieutenant's left now, Lejeune at his right.

Roget's feeling of immunity had flowed out of him soon after the flowing out of his liquor. He now had an imperious need to be done with the patrol and to get back to the safety of his own dugout. His sense of well-being had evaporated, leaving him defenseless and afraid in a hostile world. His nerves came to life again from their alcoholic anaesthesia. They were jumpy and hard to control.

A large mound of what looked like kindling wood appeared in front of them. Roget turned and threw lumps of earth at his companions, the signal to start off. They lay on their stomachs and put their heads together. Roget's breath was sour.

"What d'you make of that?" he asked Didier.

"Ruins of some houses."

"All right, then, Lejeune, you work around the right side of the pile. Didier will come with me on the left. We'll meet on the other side."

"Not on your life," said Didier. "Split a patrol? You're crazy!"

"Shut up. Do as you're told, Lejeune."

"Don't do it, Paul, it's madness."

Roget turned his wrist slightly and Didier found himself looking into the muzzle of the lieutenant's gun. Lejeune saw the movement too and checked a remark he was on the point of making. He searched for Didier's eyes, the question he wanted to ask him plainly to be seen in his expression. Didier, however, was staring down the barrel of the revolver, his own weapon uselessly pointing away from under his left arm. Lejeune was baffled. He decided the safest way out of the dilemma would be to obey. He started to crawl off to the right of the mound.

When Roget could no longer hear Lejeune, he dropped the aim of his gun and smiled — an unpleasant smile that started off towards the left. Didier followed him, straining to make all his senses alert, and silently raging at the lieutenant for splitting the patrol and leading him into the zone between the ruins and the enemy wire. Roget, too, soon felt the same urge to hurry back and getting himself into the corridor, however short it might turn out to be. He stopped to borrow a couple of bombs from Didier and put them in his breast pockets, leaving the flaps unbuttoned, then went on again, taking infinitesimal pains not to disturb the loose debris of the ruined houses. The place was in shadow there, and no matter how careful he was, it was impossible not to make some noise in the mass of litter which was strewn about. The lieutenant's heart was, therefore, constantly in his mouth. Didier wondered what they would find on the other side of the mound. The signs all indicated that there would be some kind of outpost thereabouts. In fact, he was surprised and made increasingly anxious by the fact that they hadn't yet seemed to disturb anything but loose bricks and timbers. Was he being led straight into an ambush? How was it Lejeune hadn't flushed anything? Or had he, and was he now lying with a bayonet through his throat?

They came out of the shadow of the ruins after what had seemed a long journey in both space and time. Actually they had been about fifteen minutes in covering the frontage of three or four houses. They advanced a few metres more until they were clear of the mound. Roget stopped to examine his surroundings. . . .

Didier, lying just back of him, was sweating. Now for the excessive delicate business of gathering up Lejeune into the patrol again. The patrol, which had been a defensive unit, was now a doubly dangerous offensive two units. The reunion had to be accomplished under the most agitating circumstances possible. The tension would be terrific for

Let's Stick To Facts

PERHAPS it is hopeless to wish that this year's election campaign may be carried through on a basis of the actual needs and wants of the people, instead of a lot of mudslinging and personalities. But it seems that we are in for a deluge of dirt.

The fact remains, however, that all the average man wants is good government. He is not particularly interested in party labels anymore, as the shift in California registrations from a Republican majority to a Democratic shows. He wants, we believe, a clear exposition of the facts—without vituperation and bombastic rhetoric.

There are three really important problems confronting the United States today, we believe. They are:

1. Unemployment.
2. Governmental extravagance.
3. Preservation of neutrality.

As for unemployment, it is most disquieting to know that there are still 10,000,000 workers out of jobs, although many industries and commercial establishments are back to 80 or 90 per cent of production. Technological progress has wiped out tens of thousands of jobs since the depression started.

Governmental "extravagance" is really tied in closely to this problem, as the government cannot quit spending for relief so long as 10,000,000 of its citizens can't find a way to earn their own living. There is little doubt, however, that much government spending is woefully inefficient, and that there are too many unnecessary bureaus and departments.

American neutrality is being guarded by a stop-gap congressional measure which expires next year. Something more substantial and permanent should be devised.

At present writing, it seems that we are to have a sort of triangle campaign, with Mr. Roosevelt leading one wing of the Democratic party, Mr. Al Smith leading another, and somebody—perhaps Mr. Hoover—leading the Republicans. In a year, it will be smaller fry, leading this faction and that.

Personalities come and personalities go—but America goes on forever—on the basis of certain principles. Occasionally we change our methods; infrequently, we toy with new principles. But in the long run we do our changing on the basis of facts, and not because we are daffy about some temporary leader or idea.

This is no time for hot-headed personalities and private or partisan quarrels. It is a time for looking at the country, seeing what's right and what's wrong, and doing what seems to be necessary.

For heaven's sake, let us have a sane campaign, and make a sane decision—instead of being swayed by venom and spite and hysteria—only to wake up next January with a splitting headache.

Local merchant kicks about horse race bets draining money from regular business. He should have done his kicking before the track and wire agencies opened.

An Insulting Order

THE OLD "dual citizenship" problem is brought sharply to the fore again through a recent decree from Hitler, who bluntly orders Germans who have become American citizens to report to German consulates in America for possible army service. If they don't, they'll be fined, it is threatened. Just who will do the fining isn't reported.

Every American resents the assumption, by some foreign nations that their people, although they have become American citizens still are subjects of their native states. The "once a German always a German" theory holds no water in this country, of course.

But if a naturalized citizen returns to Germany, he may be fined, imprisoned or forced into the German army, and there is no way in which this government can protect him.

America has always been operated on the theory of the freedom of mankind to choose its own country. We urge all immigrants to become citizens, and thousands of them do, every year. Common decency would dictate that the native lands from which these new citizens came should recognize our system and cease to assume power over people who are, legally, American citizens.

Maybe the Democratic party is sorry now that Frank Merriam instead of Upton Sinclair was elected governor of California.

The Multiplying Factor

IF WE are to get anywhere in the present crusade against automobile carnage we must face the facts about speed.

Apologists for speed have said: "It isn't speed that causes accidents; it is other things."

But speed is the multiplying factor that increases every other traffic hazard.

If you, or the other driver, pass on a curve, a hill, or at an intersection, the danger of that act increases in proportion to the speed of the cars involved. If someone fails to signal, you are the more likely to hit him the faster you are driving. So it is with every other danger, human or mechanical, whether it be drunkenness or sleepiness of the driver, defective tires or brakes, rough or slippery roadway—the danger is multiplied by the speed of the car.

The quickest way to reduce the number of deaths on the highway is to reduce the multiplying factor—speed. The 12 deaths in Orange county this far this year cry aloud for that.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Breakfast from a piggin of Florida salmon steak Major Bowes sent and to my book-seller, finding a coveted volume of Thackeray's essays on London.

And fell in step with Arthur Samuels, who pulled out Simon Strunsky, a writer long admired but never seen.

So tapping out my daily dot until a Chinese miss, Seya Toy, came to New York and I thought it charming. And there came a Pagliacci telegram from Ted Healy that gave me a little choke, and an autographed copy of Max Miller's volume about fog and men in the Behring sea.

The Charles B. Driscolls to dinner and much absorbing talk, he having just finished another pirate book. Later, all prinked up, with my lady to Cobina Cromwell. Home reading Santavanna's "The Last Puritan" but the interest scatters to me.

Mark Twain was not the only writer who liked to don the night shirt, pillow himself in a big bed and turn out penciled manuscripts. Hendrik Van Loon, I am told, indulges such luxury now and then as a relief from his desk. Arnold Bennett was also a bed writer, as was Joseph Conrad. An avenue department store recently exhibited a capacious deep-cushioned lounge—made to order for someone unrevealed. It had a swing-about typewriter ledge and desk pad. Along a side were niched cigar jar, lighter, groove for pen and pencils and a happy thought—a reachable shelf for dictionary. The recliner could be lowered or lifted mechanically and the lights brightened and dimmed in the same fashion. Further than that the owner authored several best sellers, the clerk was uncommunicative.

Another rousing detective story turned out by Carolyn Wells, came from the publisher the other day. Indication of an unquenchable spirit, too. For Miss Wells, doomed to die in a year, three years ago not only sold her swan song article for $1000 but has since turned out five novels, a collaboration on cats and invented two puzzle games. She also plays several rubbers of bridge daily.

Personal abomination for the airy, fairytale of the ballerinas—Harriet Hector.

To my notion no modern dancer has acquired the ethereal finesse of Miss Hector. She flies through the air like a puff ball. The unsmiling Mona Lisa of the dance, she depends on grace alone to weave her Terpsichorean spell. I recall a time at the Palace when she was costumed as one of the most repulsive of all creatures—a bat! Yet so vivid were her flutterings in the shadows of a microphone that an audience whetted for aerialists, cross-fire comics and juggling leaped to their feet in a shout of acclaim. She remained many weeks.

What the banquet boards needs these days is a stationary speaker. I have yet to see one who does not sway back and forth. Bainbridge Colby, my 1926 oratorical choice, is nearest to motionless. There are two schools of post-prandials, those who sway forward and back and right and left. Foremost in the right and left division is Louis Bromfield, the author. Before he finishes he suggests the rhythmic swing of a giant pendulum.

And there's a specious theory that people who smile all the while are the world's most amiable. Tom Geraghty is a smiler but a terror when ruffled. So is Kealey Allen. Smilers are the ones who can go berserk at slightest irritation. Ever see Clarence Budington Kelland mad? I haven't either, but those who have say: "Oh, boy!"

A veteran actor tells me there are seven rules preventing one from growing old, but won't reveal them. He has proved his thesis. In the middle 60's he looks 40. He says the famous Lotta practiced them. So does Mistinguette. One observation he did reveal: "Old age is merely a bad habit."

Bagatelles: J. P. Morgan's favorite pipe is a 50-cents from Scotland. Mrs. Alice Longworth thinks writing a column is the hardest thing she ever tried to do. W. R. Hearst's favorite author is Charles Dickens. Mrs. Older's biography reveals.

After several days of columnar coasting, I'm sending out for one of those observation nests of a queen included, now on sale in department stores. Headline: "Veteran Sluggard Takes up Ant Peeping!"

VICTIM OF THEIF

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A stranger walked into the hospital room of Ernest Ortmeyer. Mrs. Ortmeyer slipped out on request—to allow the apparently well-meaning man a "moment alone" with her husband. After he left, the patient's gold watch, knife and chain were missing.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Supporters of Gov. Alf Landon are claiming that Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury under Hoover, has parted with his one-time chief and climbed on the Kansas's bandwagon. When Hoover began his political comeback last year, the inside word in Republican circles was that he had the moral and financial backing of Mills. . . . The lowest political temperature of the current blustery winter was reached at Springfield, Ill., on Lincoln's birthday when Secretary Ickes and Gov. Gene Talmadge met for the first time. Outside of an icy "how-do-you-do" the two men said nothing to each other. . . . Sullivan and Cromwell, leading New York law firm which received a $75,000 fee to oppose the Holding Company act, is counsel in the important sugar Institute case now pending in the supreme court. A number of leading industries seek an interpretation from the court liberalizing the anti-trust statutes. . . . Senator Lester J. Dickinson, Iowa's presidential aspirant, was the butt of much good-natured cloak-room raillery following the TVA decision. Dickinson is a strong foe of TVA, and the day before the court's decision he declared: "If there had to be a choice between the senate and the supreme court I would rather see the senate abolished." Next day the court upheld the TVA.

At a recent reception at the Soviet embassy, ladies generally were served by men but a bevy of feminine beauty vied in offering caviar and cakes to handsome Professor Rex Tugwell.

Attorney General Homer Cummings, in a frank comment on the supreme court: "It's a good thing crime isn't popular, or we should probably find the supreme court invalidating the federal crime laws, such as the Lindbergh kidnapping act."

INCREASED NEED

Washington headquarters of the Conference of Mayors has notified federal relief authorities that as a result of the severe and protracted cold spell, cities in all parts of the country report a marked increase in relief demands. So heavy is the unanticipated drain on local resources that the mayors' conference is revising its estimates for federal aid next year, and is planning to ask congress for a $3,000,000 appropriation. . . . Chairman William Connery, jr., of the house labor committee, is putting his bonus money to a novel use. He plans to establish a trust fund for his 11-year-old daughter. . . . Aubrey Williams, one of Harry Hopkins' five assistant administrators, has been definitely elevated to No. 2 man in the WPA organization. He has been given the title of deputy administrator, thus officially ranking him above Corrington Gill, Jacob Baker, Lawrence Westbrook, and Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward. . . . So far only nine states have enacted unemployment insurance acts to conform with the federal social security law. . . . Virginia's Democratic Representative Howard Smith has introduced a bill for the printing of 110,000 copies of a government publication entitled: "Diseases of the Horse." He proposes to distribute them: 80,000 to members of the house, 30,000 to the senate.

Bathing at government expense is illegal. A travel voucher for room and bath by a government official was disallowed by Comptroller General McCarl on the ground that the bath was unauthorized by law.

HULL DECLARATION

Secretary of State Hull will make a major political declaration in Baltimore in early March. He will not deal with foreign affairs. . . . Enrique Bordenave, Paraguayan minister, is half-brother of the deposed President of Paraguay. . . . Elisha Hanson, brilliant legalist who won the unanimous supreme court opinion favoring freedom of the press, is a breeder of fan-tail pigeons, has won several blue ribbons. The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, even in his latter years, used to make regular visits to enthrone over Hanson's pigeons. Hanson first came to Washington as correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, became political mentor of the late Senator McMillin McCormick, led the behind-the-scenes scene fight to confirm Louis D. Brandeis as Justice of the supreme court in the face of open opposition by certain conservative justices.

SECRET BACKING

The senate lobby committee, now investigating the finances of the Liberty league, is checking a report that the league contributed $5000 to Gov. Gene Talmadge's anti-New Deal convention in Macon. The tip emanated from a former Talmadge lieutenant who broke with the Georgia governor. . . . If cabinet members want to live in style when they travel on official business they have to pay for the extras out of their own pockets. The government travel allowance of $5 a day is no bigger for cabinet members. . . . In order not to antagonize ex-President Hoover, who is seeking to control the California delegation to the Republican convention, Col. Frank Knox has given private assurance that he will not enter the California presidential primary.

Miss Josephine Roche, assistant secretary of the treasury and temporary head of the federal alcohol administration, got a shock the other day when she glanced at a liquor trade journal. On its front page was a large photograph of herself with the caption: "Liquor Store and Dispenser."

ALIEN DEPORTATION

March 1 is a dread deadline for 2862 aliens and some 4000 American-born wives and children dependent on them. Though these aliens are law-abiding residents, because of illegal entry they must be deported under existing law. Enactment by March 1 of the Kerr bill, backed by the labor department and giving the government certain discretionary powers, would save them and prevent their families from becoming public charges. . . . The bituminous coal commission has begun a quiet investigation of reported profiteering in fuel during the protracted cold spell. . . . A southern relief worker has written Harry Hopkins attacking WPA wage scales as unconstitutional and threatening to start court action. The protestant charged that the wage rates vary in different sections and that this is contrary to the constitutional mandate against sectional discrimination.

What Other Editors Say

CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM

(Milwaukee Journal)

President Roosevelt, commending the League of Women Voters for its fight for good government and the elimination of the spoils system, says:

"It matters not what political party is in power by the elective will of the people, the government functions for all, and there can be no question of greater moment or broader effect than the maintenance, strengthening and extension of the merit system, established in the competitive principles of the Civil Service act, whose fifty-third birthday is being celebrated this month."

At no time, at least in the last quarter century, has the strain on civil service been greater than in the last three years. Thousands of jobs had to be filled and the politicians were anxious to fill them. Whether that natural strain has been enhanced by an administration desire to build up patronage remains a matter of opinion.

Whatever may be said about "emergencies" certainly does not apply to those continuing services that are not affected by sudden expansion. The Post Office department, for instance, there the need calls for exactly that application of the merit system which the President advocates. The post offices should be run as a business and ability and experience should be the only standards of selection.

GAMBLING GROWS Apace

(La Habra Star)

The evils attended upon legalized gambling, especially in connection with horse racing, creep in upon us steadily and insidiously. There continually come to light cases which show the bad effect of the situation.

That Americans have inborn in them the disposition to gamble can hardly be denied, but we do not settle the problem arising from that fact when we say that the way to meet it is to let the bars down further and further.

In legalizing pari-mutuel betting on horse races we saved our conscience by agreeing that the state should get a share of the pot. But it has been shown in recent weeks that a large amount of betting is done from which the state gets nothing. Professional gamblers were quick to see the possibilities of illegal "bookmaking," and they have been steadily increasing their business, even to where some of the tin-horn operators have been taking 10-cent bets from school children.

Remarkable Remarks

War is no longer a tournament between professional men-at-arms, but is, in truth, the impact of civilizations.—Bernard M. Baruch.

Reading and 'riting and 'rithmetick have given way to reel, radio, and rumble seat, and modern youth seeks pleasures at movies, dance halls and taverns. Mary Ellen Macafee, Wheaton, Ill.

If the time should ever come when citizens of this country should repudiate the acts of the supreme court, the very foundation of our social and economic welfare would disappear.—Gov. Alf M. Landon.

Poor old capitalism! Capitalism has not a leg to stand on. Being tried for life, she seems not to have a friend left in court.—John S. Thomas, president, Clarkson college.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Washington Place In The Semi Defies Debunkers
A CENTURY and a quarter ago the poet, Byron, peering through the smoke of the Napoleon was exclaiming: Where was the weary eye repose When gazing on the Great; Where neither guilty glory glows, Nor despicable state Yes—one—the first—the last—the best.

The memory of Washington was still fresh in the hearts of men. In all the storm of hate and fury, in the rise and fall of grasping tyrants, of military chiefs with their little glory and fading day, of the reeking Corsican and his horde of satellites, one fails to find a single figure to love and honor. Only beyond the western way was the new world beginning to show how close to immortality a few of the sons of earth may get.

The debunkers of history have not been able to jostle Washington from his niche of fame. Because his is the eminence based on servicing character. No one needs to regard Washington as a paragon of virtue, wisdom and love. He never made claims to such excellence. He did insist that his motives were animated by zeal for the public good and in this posterity has fully concurred. He left high the standard of unselfish devotion to state and nation and who would ask more of any man?

Washington was one of those rare instruments of fate around whom the destinies of men revolve. The vast vortex of events coming from him could not have come from any other men. It was not simply a matter of some other person doing the things which he did, if Washington had not done them. Those epochal events would not have happened. Without him American independence was not conceivable. Without him American union could not have shaped itself.

Read again his Farewell Address and get the measure of the man. Mark not so much the wisdom of the philosopher, the dictum of the statesman, or the grasp of fundamental issues. Note the good sense which permeates that message, the patriotic fervor, the zeal for service. Catch the throbbing pulse of destiny with which the Father of his country freighted these last words of counsel. None can doubt Washington's position on any issue at any time. He was the very soul of intellectual honesty. Such genuine worth is the heart of greatness.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Santa Ana went to Santa Anita Saturday. George Washington almost closed the town. Only folks left were the ones who had to work for a living. Everybody wanted to show their skill in picking the handicapped winner. Tom Walker said to put my money on "Sluggard, Woods" and Carl Edgar thought it should go on "Tick On." "He Did" looked good to others, but my minister said the best bet was to put my money on the collection plate. After the race was over I had the same amount of money I did when the horses left the post. Bet that's a better report than a lot of my friends turn in. . . .

And then the young lady who last Thursday found out I did not have 40 cents to buy a ticket to the Day Nursery, encountered me Saturday when I had 80 cents and sold two tickets. I could have saved 40 cents if the investment had been made Thursday. This tip is passed on to you fellows. I buy a ticket first time you are solicited and save money later.

Shakespeare and his "Midsummer Night's Dream," aided and abetted by Max Reinhardt and Les Fountaine, got me into a squeeze play last Friday which came near being fatal. Fell into the vortex of the school rush and the line was too much for my avoirdupois and age. Never knew Frank Henderson had such a large family before. Why, those kiddies just literally swarmed into the theaters. It was like a flood. They carried everything before them. When I was finally rescued and found myself on the fourth floor of the Spurgeon building my palpitation was making about the same time a streamline train does between Chicago and Minneapolis.

Luther Turner sends me a clipping from Durling's column about footwear and size. Durling insists that "big" indicates a man's sterling qualities, generosity, patience, dependability and domestic traits, so there being nothing left for me I'm ready to trade in my 5-b's just to get into Luther's company. This paragraph will prove to Luther that the shoe was delivered.

In many of the cafes they now serve the morning dope sheet on the horses with a cup of coffee. You furnish your own conversation. If you do not the fellow sitting next to you will. For those fellows who can afford to bet on a horse race it is all right with me, but, oh, well, what's the use. If they don't bet on horses it will probably be something else. Only I have to listen all day long about too much money going out of town, and too often by those who can least afford it all of which is beyond my control.

Called to see Roland Kleess and the decorators had pushed the entire office force into Santa Anita—or some place. Those George Washington wasn't even in when I called. The Abstract and Title Insurance company looked like the fumigators had possession. There wasn't a clerk left in the place. But it looked inviting this morning after the decorators had completed their work.

The more I read about Floyd Howard's rock pile, the more I favor it. Personally there is no danger for me, but some good friend may hand me his ticket so I could serve his sentence. At least I could get to sit down for a few moments.

A press report says that in the navel district groves in the Orange district, 20 per cent of the report is accepted as so much rot.

Reason I didn't attend the Disabled Veterans dance was my inability to persuade the society reporter to chronicle my sartorial appearance. Gee, even promised to put on a new tie and lift my trousers high enough to reveal a swell pair of silk hose and even then couldn't get honorable mention, which only convinces me there isn't any such animal as equal suffrage. But I did get to a tax meeting which keeps society going.

Residents of the Costa Mesa district like to listen to the mocking bird, but express fear that the voice of this loved bird will be stifled forever if the boys continue their destruction. Maybe all birds look alike to a boy with a rifle, but if he does lack the ability to differentiate, and still has some love in his soul for a bird which is fond of human society, and thrives well under a domestic environment, it may help some if he is told the mocking bird has a plumage all bluish-gray and white. I wouldn't grumble so much if the kids took a few shots at a blackbird, but when they sight a head against such a lovely sonnet as the mocking bird, well, I hope they miss.
